FASCINATION

Isn't it fascinating that 1,811 students can make it to school by 7:30 AM? This year the Students of Port Huron Northern High School greeted August 24, 2000 with eager anticipation...translation: yawns. To meet the state requirements, high schoolers attended their first hour twenty-three minutes earlier and got out thirty-five minutes ahead of schedule. This extra time after school benefited sports programs along with some extra curricular activities, but caused a headache for other students.

With the teacher-contract issue resolved, teachers and students felt less pressure returning to Northern. They got used to changes like shorter hours, 20 new staff members, and crowded classrooms. Another addition was the Class of 2000's boulder parked in the median of grass between the parking lots. Students expressed their spirit by painting messages on it.

Students started the year with stimulating stories of summer spent working, playing, and traveling. They realized it was going to be a fascinating year...

Towards the end of winter, snow outdoors was a usual occurrence. People shoveled the snow out of their driveways and brushed it off their car windows. At Northern, Snow week was a whole different phenomenon.

In order to get students in a competitive mood, student council held a spirit week and penny jar contest between the classes. These were the two scores that collected over the week. On Friday the student body gathered in the gym for the games assembly which included events such as tug-of-war and the grape toss. Sophomores dominated this competition and took first place. "It felt good to see my class win," stated Drew Mahlberg ('02).

Saturday's Snow games consisted of football, volleyball, soccer, and euchre. "The games were fun to watch. I stayed all day and ate nachos," commented Matt Pickett ('01). Later that evening, the students went to the final event of the week, the Snow dance. Here they found a restful way to an exciting and competitive week with a bang.

Hmmm...

Pondering cards on hand, Dave Taggart ('00) and Stephanie Green ('02) think of what trump to play. The euchre tournament ended with a face-off between the class of '00 and the class of '01. Victorious overall, the class of '00 earned their ten points in only a few hands.

How do you think school spirit was shown the best during the Snow games?

"The snow games bring more spirit than dressing up for spirit week. A lot more students get involved by either spectating or participating in the Snow games. It brings a lot of students together."

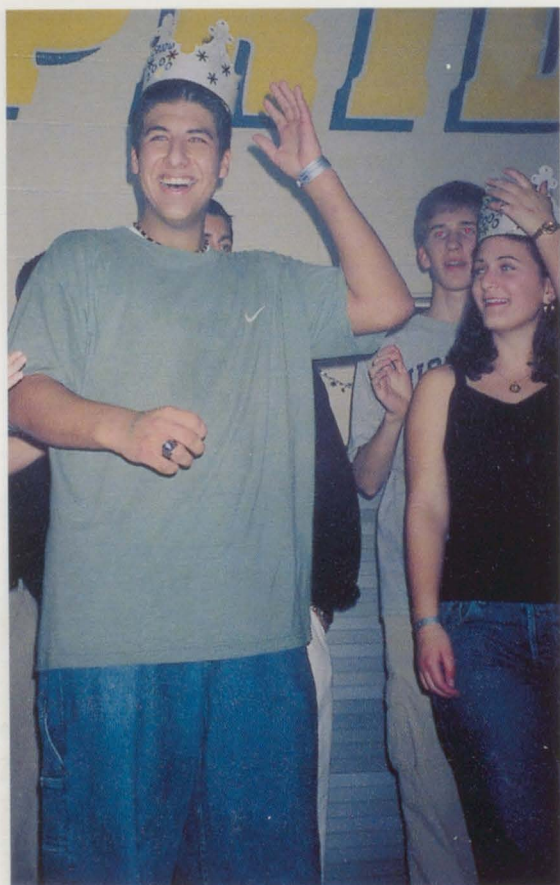

-Laurie Keith ('01)

"I think people show the most spirit on Saturday at the Snow games because even if they don't participate in the games, they come to watch and support their class."

-Katie Reynolds ('01)

"The fact that we had such a great turnout of kids should prove that Northern is bursting with school spirit. Look at all the people who showed up and gave it their all!"

Let the games begin! The class of '01, in the blue, beat out the class of '02 in the Powder-Puff football game.

Determined

With a look of determination, John Palmateer ('01) concentrates on the finish line while waiting for the whistle to blow. John was the first runner for the relay race.

What day did you like best for Snow?

"Get up and go day, because everyone looked really funny."

-Jennifer Scott ('03)

"My favorite was probably college hat and t-shirt day because it was easy."

-Eddie Mathews ('02)

"School color day because I have pride in my school."

-Joshua Cook ('03)

"My favorite is get up and go day because you don't have to get ready in the morning."

Where did you go and what did you do over Spring Break?

"I went to Hilton Head Island, South Carolina and went to the beach. The weather was beautiful!"

-Kaitlin McNamee ('02)

"I went to Ireland. I saw castles, churches, animals, and countryside. They were beautiful. I had a wonderful time."

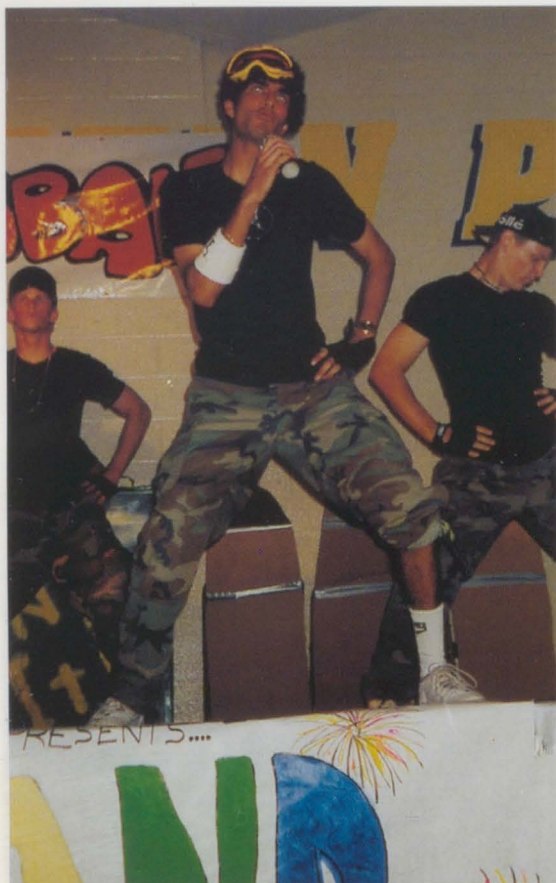

-Kara Dembroski ('02)

"I went horseback riding at Pine River Riding Stables. It was fun because I was taking my little cousin riding for the first time."

-Danielle Luther ('01)

Mixin'

In perfect time, Jashan Valjee ('00), Jon Hastings ('01), and Brian Warner ('01) lip-sync to "Jump On It." The Sir-Mix-A-Lot song earned them third place in Airband '00. Their group consisted of seven guys all dressed in camouflage.

Anticipation

Smile Pretty! While inching their way to the top of the Magnum's highest peak, Maelynn Bernosky ('01) and Christopher Foltz ('01) flash a quick smile. The class of '01 went to Cedar Point for their '00 class trip.

Picture Perfect

While pinning a corsage on Rob Rader ('01), Lindsay Edmondson ('01) anticipates the evening ahead. The two went to the Golf Club for dinner before heading off to McMorran for Prom.

What did you enjoy the most about Junior Prom?

"Junior Prom was radical. The way they hung up the lights and the rest of the decorating was awesome. The dance itself was a blast and I hope Senior Prom is just as fun!"

-Leeann Bland ('01)

"It was a lot of hard work setting up, but everyone liked it and had a good time. That was the most enjoyable part."

-Maelynn Bernosky ('01)

"I had a lot of fun dancing and hanging out with the people there."

-Jordan Schrader ('01)

"I enjoyed being with all my friends. Prom was tons of fun. It was cool to see everyone dressed up."

To many Seniors and Juniors, prom was a night never to be forgotten. For the class of '00, this memorable event was held at Thomas Edison Inn, while the class of '01 danced the night away in McMorran's junior arena.

"Don't Want to Miss a Thing" was chosen as the theme for Junior prom. Glittering lights and clouds of mist added to the atmosphere. "It was very pretty," replied Natalie Opitz ('01). "I really liked the colors they chose. I felt like a princess at the ball."

As for Senior Prom, the theme was "Today's Dreams, Tomorrow's Memories." Balloons and streamers transformed the banquet hall into an elaborate ballroom for Senior Prom, thus adding to the memory that the class of 2000 would carry forever. Allison DeGrow ('00) commented, "Senior prom was fun, I wish we could have had a dance like that every year of high school. I would love to be able to have our class hold another one. You never realize how much fun you have until it's over."

"Look toward the future. Live in the present. Remember the past," stated the banner hung behind the stage in front of the 357 seniors that represented the graduating Class of 2000. Those enchanting words were chosen as the class motto to guide the seniors into the rest of their lives. The thirty-fifth annual commencement service took place on Tuesday, June 6, 2000 and Governor John Engler addressed the class. McMorran Place Arena was jam-packed with over 3,300 proud friends and family members celebrating the accomplishments of their beloved seniors. Tears were shed as the class song was sung, but the message it gave would remain with the graduates for the rest of thier lives. "As we go on we remember all the times we spent together and as our lives change come whatever we will still be Friends Forever," Vitamin C, "Graduation (Friends Forever)."

After the service was over the seniors had one more chance to say their final farewells as they gathered back at Northern for one last time, the all-night party. This was a celebration thrown in the graduates honor featuring a hyptominst, boxing ring, inflatabe obstacle course, casino and lots of food. When the doors opened at 4:00 A.M. to release the seniors it was the last time they would gather together again as seniors, before embarking into their future.

What did you think of graduation?

"I couldn't stop crying when they sang their class song; it was a final goodbye."

-Karleigh Baker ('03)

"It was pretty funny how they all tossed around the beach ball and sprayed silly string."

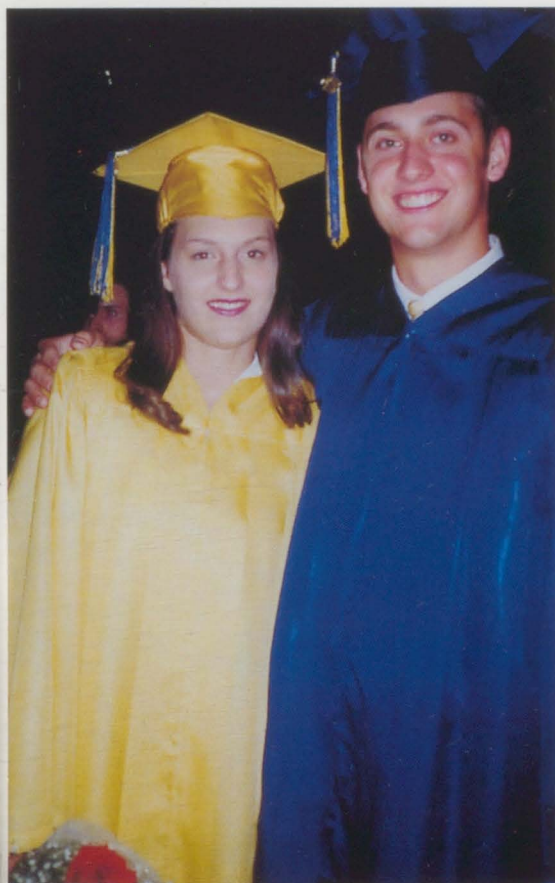

-Kelli Zgieb ('03)

"I was happy to have the governor speak, however I was not interested in his personal life."

-Katie Curtiss ('00)

"My high school years were a lot of fun, I will cherish them for the rest of my life. Graduation was like the final horah, it was sad and happy at the same time. I will miss seeing everyone, but it is time to move on."

What did you do over the summer?

"This summer I had a lot of fun. Not only did I get to visit some of the coolest places in the world, but I also got to go with a lot of my close friends on the trip to France."

-Andy Carolan ('02)

"I worked as a recreator with the City Recreation Department. They took us on many fun trips such as a Tiger Game, Cedar Point, and the African Lion Safari. My summer was really fun."

-Jennifer Scott ('03)

"Over the summer I went to Mississippi to visit my relatives for a family reunion. Then I came home and worked the rest of the summer."

-Torri Ashford ('02)

"Over the summer I worked at Tim Horton's."

"Bonjour " was what many students were saying during their exciting trip to Europe this summer. On June 15th, a group of fifty-three students and adults gathered at Metro Airport in Detroit to begin their trip to Europe.

Despite a few major setbacks (flights were cancelled, people had to take three separate planes, luggage was lost, etc.), the students managed to make the best of their trip. The group was able to see many European cities, such as London, Paris, Tours, Versailles, Chartres, Brussels, Amsterdam and Winchester. Maria Noetzel ('02) commented, "I liked Paris the best because of the night life and all of the different people because we were there during a music festival called La Fete de la Musique." They were also able to experience many different things such as walking the Normandy beaches and going up the Eiffel Tower.

"The trip to Europe with Mr. LaBelle's French classes was a lot of fun. We had many problems to face, but they just made the trip more interesting and exciting," replied Pat Brown ('01).

With the sound of music in the air students entered the cafeteria prepared for a fun-filled night of dancing. Many of the students showed up at the dance in costume, as was requested by the football team. This added to the night by providing a sense of intrigue.

As is the tradition, the walls were on display at the dance for all to see. The theme for wall building was Foreign countries. The seniors brought the city of love right to the dance floor with their imitation of the Eiffel Tower and moonlit scene of a table and chairs. This captured first place for them. The juniors came in second with their Tropical paradise of Costa Rica including a cave and tumbling bridge. Sophomores "walked like an Egyptian" bringing us back to the time where pharaohs ruled and pyramids were under construction. Their mural earned third place. Last, but not least, the freshman won fourth place with their replica of Big Ben and English soldiers.

"I felt that student showed more participation as well as enthusiasm this year in Mardi Gras. The dance had a great turn-out and the walls were very detailed and everyone showed lots of determination," commented Sarah Partipilo ('01).

What was your favorite day during Spirit Week?

"I think my favorite day was crazy sock day because it was cool to see what others were wearing. It was like a mystery. It was cool! I liked them all though."

-Leeann Bernosky ('02)

"My favorite spirit day was hat day because we don't get to wear hats often and it's nice that we got a change."

Ready, Set, Go

Seconds before the cart race is going to start, Aaron Stanislawski ('01), Carri Baldwin ('01) and Laurie Keith ('01) help Lynn Slupski ('01) prepare. The freshmen won the cart race.

What did you think of the games assembly?

"The games assembly really gets everyone pumped and excited to go to the game and the dance. I look forward to it every year!"

-Kristen Meyers ('02)

"The games assembly is fun. They are a great way for people to get to see their friends when they can't have any classes with them."

-Stacy Sargent ('03)

"I was in the tug-of-war and I thought it was a lot of fun, even though we lost."

-Lexie Fullgrapp ('04)

"I think it showed that the juniors and seniors had a ton of school spirit. We're older so we've been doing Mardi Gras longer so we know what it's about."

BOMBARDED WITH BILLS~

A picture, your class ring, prom, trips, movies, gas! These expenses were some of the things that the seniors had trouble with. Kasey McCabe ('01) stated "Well, when you get into an accident, you have to pay for it, and the close-up trip and spring break are pretty enticing. Of course there are the usual expenses that plaque teenagers: gas, movies, Denny's." Whether it be big or little, seniors sometimes have to pay for things on their own. They could not always depend on their parents to be there when they get into a bind. "I moved out this year so I've had to pay for all my senior stuff myself. It is not fun," adds Natalie Davis ('01). Even though these things took a big chunk out of your bank account, "it's all good", as people would say. Jamie McQuiller ('01) said, "Senior pictures, class ring. It's okay, but it all adds up in the end." CJ Rutherford ('01) also stated "senior pictures, group senior pictures, yearbook, and it's a good waste of money, I guess, but life goes on." Whether seniors paid for things themselves or not, those expenses were there..... just waiting.

CROSS TOWN RIVALS~

At the pep assembly, Laurie Keith ('01) shows her true colors.

"Stomp those Reds! Stomp those Reds!" echoed through the halls on September 30th, 2000. Students as well as teachers dressed in blue and gold and put on their war paint. At the pep assembly, the crowd was pleased by games, dancing, and even the football coach's cheerleading mounts. Shortly after, a funeral procession ran rampant through the streets, with "Who let the dogs out?" blaring on the radio and students hanging out of their cars. In thirty-four years, the Huskies have only lost their arch enemies seven times. This year, the dawgs again mauled their opponents with a score of 38-28.

OOPS! LATE AGAIN~

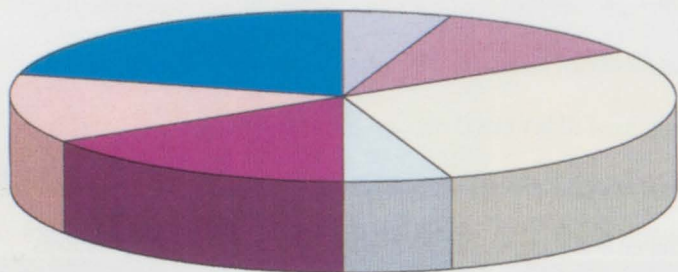

Parents love them, students hate them. Curfews were something that everybody had to live by. Although some were later than others were, most didn't like them even if they had it great. As teens got older throughout the year they wanted more and more freedom, which resulted in arguments with parents and stretching the limits. Students curfews ranged from 11:00 to 12:00 or none at all. No matter the limit students all shared the same complaint: "There was never enough time to hang out with friends." Kasey McCabe ('01) stated, "Some people are mature enough to know when to be in for the evening, but some abuse the privileges, so a set time is better for them." Curfews can be translated by several meanings; They can be a punishment, a restriction, or a way for parents to ensure there children's safety. Megan Wojtas ('01) quoted, "Curfews are nice sometimes, but trust should be valued more than time." In the end the message remains simple: Be responsible..... and on time.

Cassie Vazquez

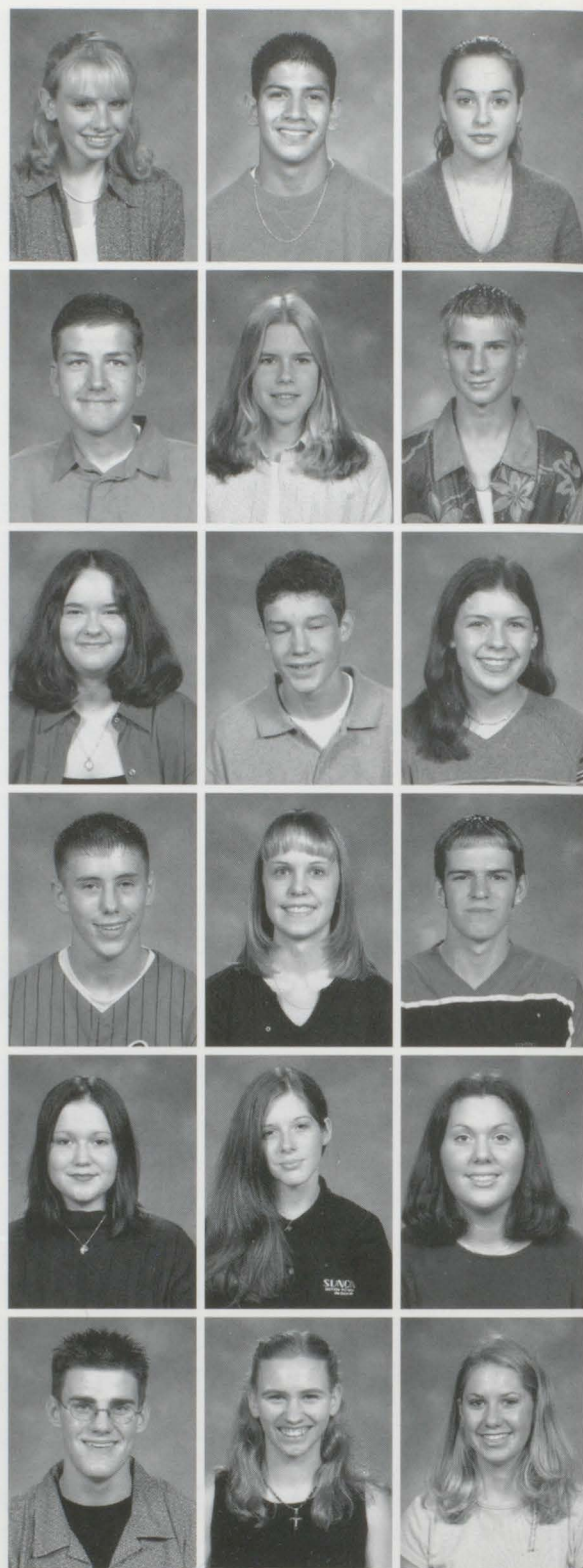

~Carefully studying, Nathan Korff ('02) and Leigh Klemmer ('02) work hard to keep their grades up for their upcoming senior year.

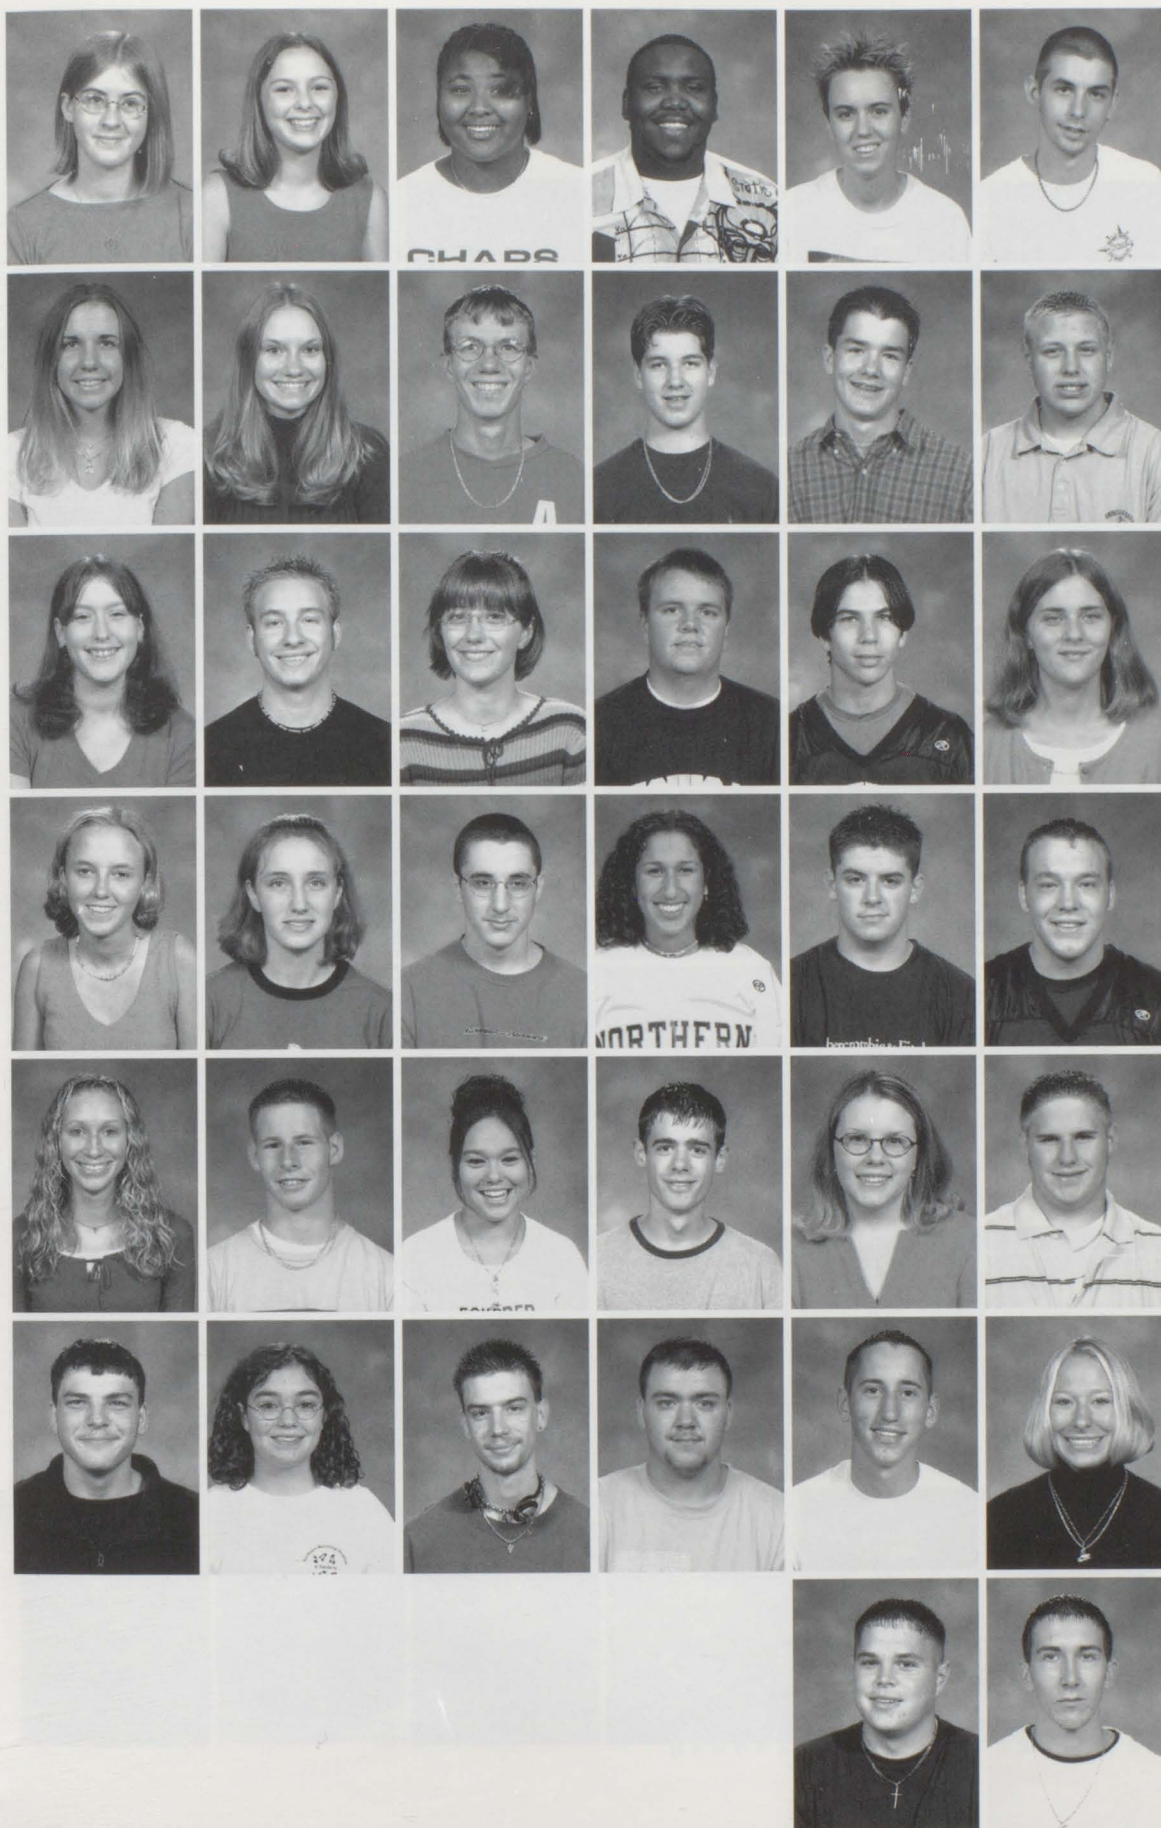

Finally, it approached, the year that all juniors had waited for: Senior year. It was the conclusion of their adolescence and the beginning of their adult life. But with all the excitement of becoming a senior, there were a couple of things that had to be completed first.

Unlike the graduates of 2001, seniors of 2002 looked forward to 42 credits to graduate (42 is cut in half to equal a total of 21 required credits). They also had ACT'S, SAT'S, portfolios and P.O.D to look forward to. "I think I am most looking forward to senior year, because it will take me a step closer to college. But I am least looking forward to keeping my test scores up and P.O.D," stated Rachel Buhagiar ('02).

Yes, it was a long time coming, but Sarah Partipilo ('01) gave a bit of advice for the soon to be seniors. "Have fun, and really try to get to know everyone, because this is your last year and after this, that's it, so don't have any regrets."

What was your opinion of closed campus?

"It's okay, because it keeps us safe from wild mullets."

-Jon Dell ('02)

"I think we should have an open campus, to allow diversity within the lunch menu, cause the food at school is BAD!!"

-Nathan Henry ('02)

"I understand the safety reasons behind closed campus. Since many students do drive to school it should be part of their privilege to drive to near by restaurants during their lunch break."

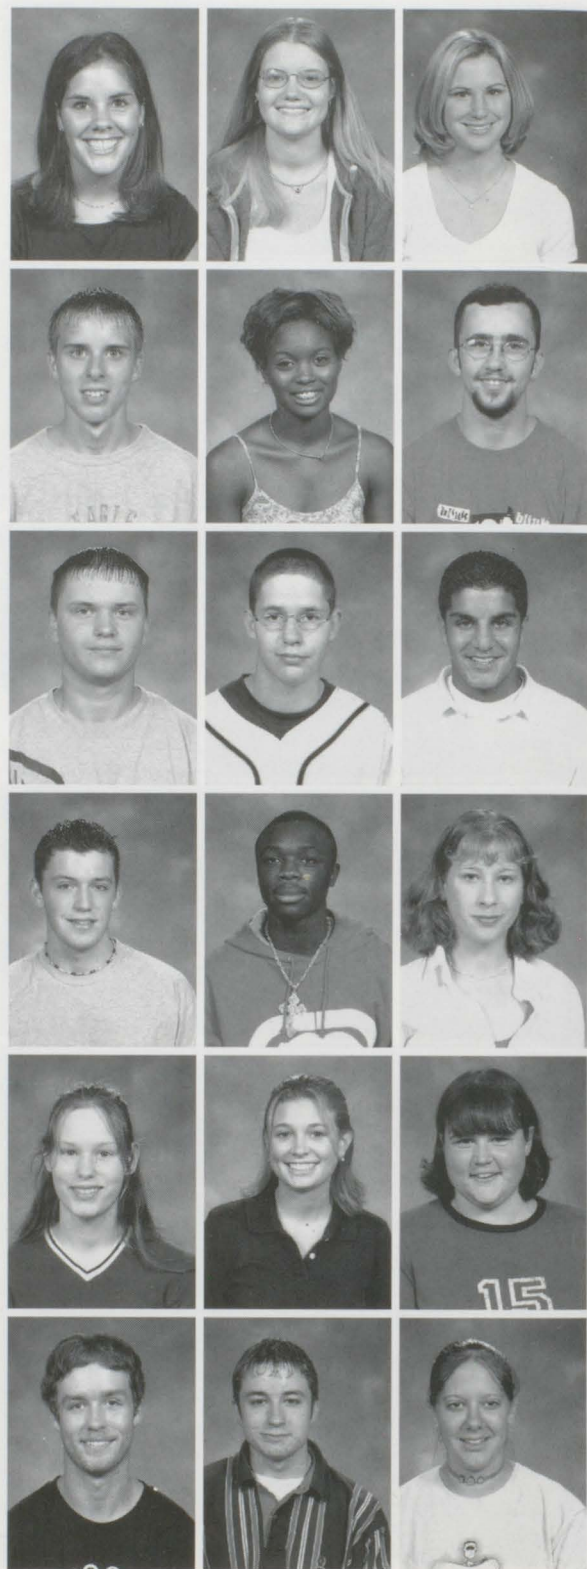

-Stephanie Green ('02)

"I think that closed campus is stupid, because if people really want to get off the property they will! I think the school is trying to make money off the students."

-Caroline Banka ('02)

"I think we need an open campus, so we can eat whatever we want for lunch."

RUNNING against the CLOCK

What did you think of going to school at 7:32 ?

"I think that it is as exciting as watching a freeky movie on your arm."

-Leigh Klemmer ('02)

"I like starting school earlier, because it gives me more time after school."

-Steve Feick ('02)

"I know for a fact I would do better academically later during the day. It is a proven fact. I know very few people who get to bed before 11:00, which cuts sleep short, big time."

-Andy Helzer ('02)

"I think it is ridiculous to have to start school at 7:32. What do they think? We don't need any sleep."

-Tiffany Lambert ('02)

"I don't mind school starting, even though I have to get up earlier. I like the fact that we have a longer afternoon!"

-Shylah Peterson ('02)

"It's pretty foolish. All studies show that teens work better later in the day. Plus a lot of people don't get as much sleep."

-Louie Kuznia ('02)

GOING against the GRAIN

Audrey Whaling

~All dressed up for the occasion, Andrea McDonald ('03) sports her hordes of beads at the Mardi Gras Dance.

Is it good that people look and act differently?

"I think a person's looks has to do with their self-worth. Personalities are built on character. As long as you're yourself you will be a happier, healthier person. Everyone has their own dignity and there should be a variety of them. Life would be boring if they're the same."

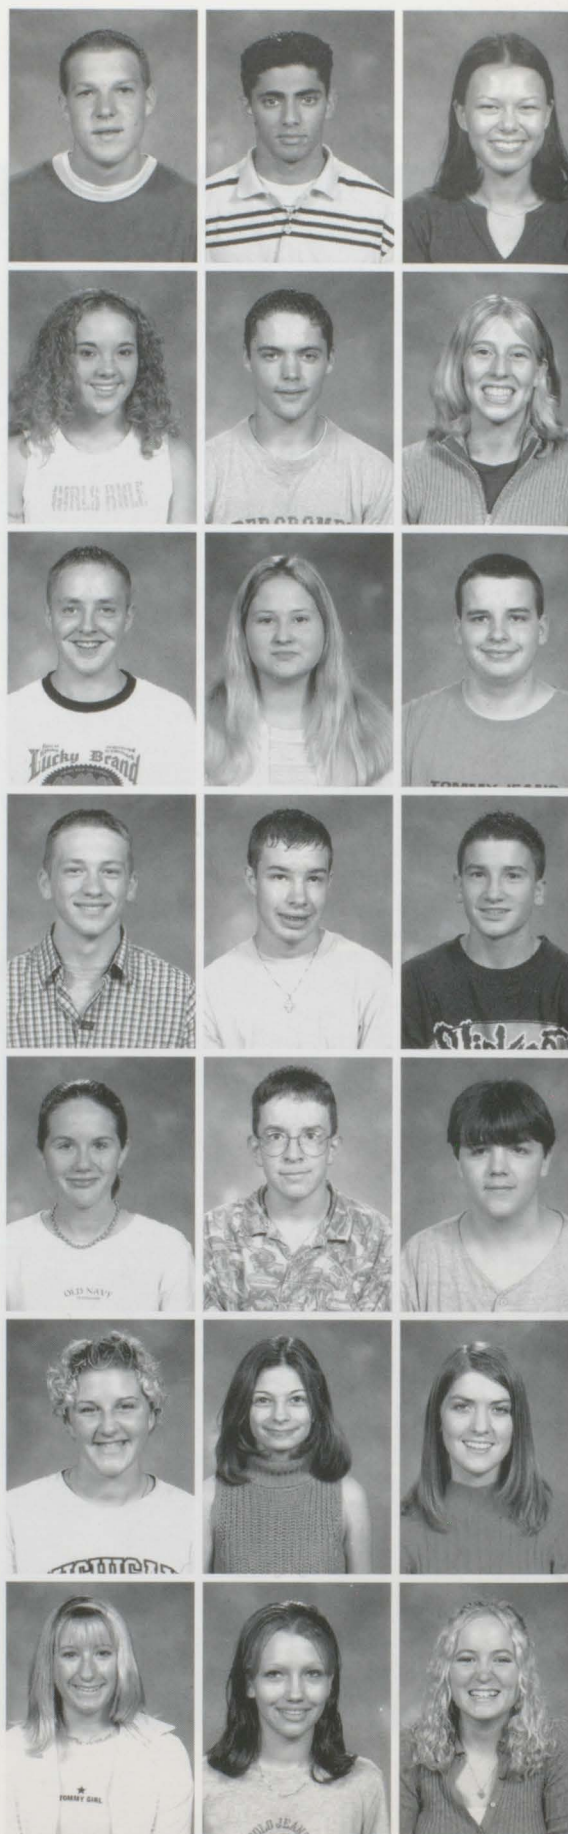

—Elizabeth Livingston ('03)

"I believe in a person's freedom to express themselves in the way they look. In today's society, it is one of the only ways for teens to set themselves apart from others."

—Mike Beebe ('03)

"I think looks and personalities are important to each person. They make them you and no one else, no one is like you."

"When I stay up late to study, I usually forget everything I learned."

-Tom Shaw ('03)

"I am tired for school the next day. I am falling asleep in class."

-Kristy Lozano ('03)

"I don't get enough sleep."

-Travis Sumoski ('03)

"Staying up late causes a lot of stress for me the next day. I get really edgy."

-Pete Kamicka ('03)

"I'm tired the next day and sometimes I have trouble finishing other work. Then I forget something in the morning, because I over-slept."

-John Kirby ('03)

RELATIONS

REGULATIONS

Krysten Kellogg

~Pass in hand, Kristen Brasher ('02) makes her ticket to roam the halls clearly visible.

Rules could be defined as many things, some rules included age limits, how far was too far, and what went into a relationship. Parents never wanted their babies to grow up and start falling in love. They learned to let go and that was when we were allowed to experience a relationship with the opposite sex. Once more there were rules. Katie Wiegand ('03) quotes, "Some rules that I have heard are that you should be 16 to date or that you should group or double date. It makes no sense since most kids have boyfriends and girlfriends in the 6th or 7th grade, which is practically like dating. I think that you should be able to start dating when you hit high school." Most agreed that there should be no age limit to hold hands, kiss, hug, and even go out on a date.

Still, there were other rules that are not really applied, but rather distributed by how the relationship is going. Gordie Wager ('03) quotes, "The biggest and most important, rule is to be truthful. I think in order to date you have to tell the truth and communicate with whom your dating." All in all, when it gets down to it, rules were made to be followed.

IF I Could TEACH

If you could choose one teacher, who would it be and why?

"Definitely Mr. Raymond Labelle. He makes learning a profound and new experience. Everyday I go to class, I look forward to his carefree personality and cheerful teaching style."

-Breanna Lohr ('03)

"If I had to choose one teacher, I would choose Mrs. Reinke. She is very nice and understanding. She is funny, easy, and an all-around good teacher."

-Betsy Livingston ('03)

"Mr. Becker, because he can communicate with his students really well and he speaks our language."

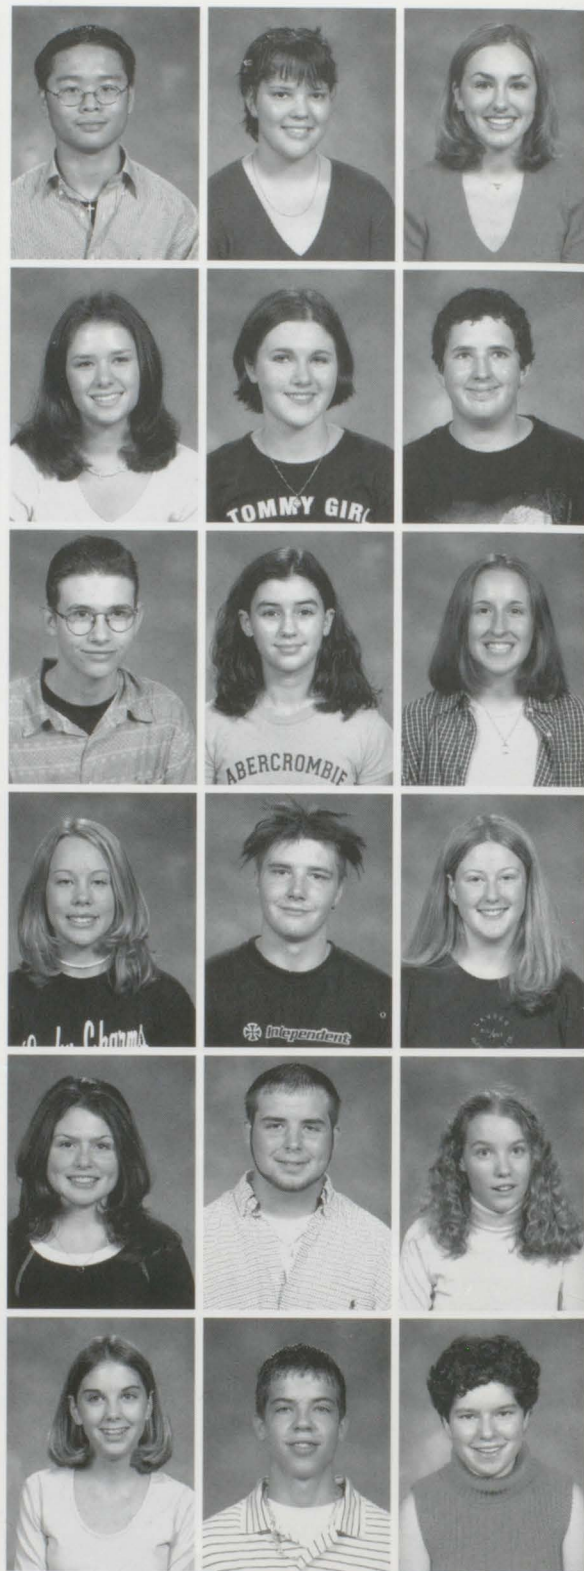

-Nina Caluya ('03)

"Mrs. Labeau, because she is laid back and she makes learning fun. She also has a great sense of humor."

-Matt Sanders ('03)

"The teacher that I would choose is Miss Schelicher. She cares about her teaching ,she lets you have fun at the same time, and she cares about her students."

I'VE got a SECRET

Why do you think rumors are started?

"I think rumors are started to get back at people in an immature and funny way. It just keeps school interesting."

- Christina Giardini ('03)

"To make someone feel low about themselves or to make someone feel better about themselves."

-Chris Hammond ('03)

"I think rumors are started, because people have nothing better to do then cause problems and try to make people look bad."

-Linsay Hurt ('03)

"Because people get mad at other people and to get even, they start stuff. I think it is really dumb."

-Lyndy Weitzel ('03)

"I think rumors get started for that person's enjoyment. It is also a product of boredom."

-Niccole Burns ('03)

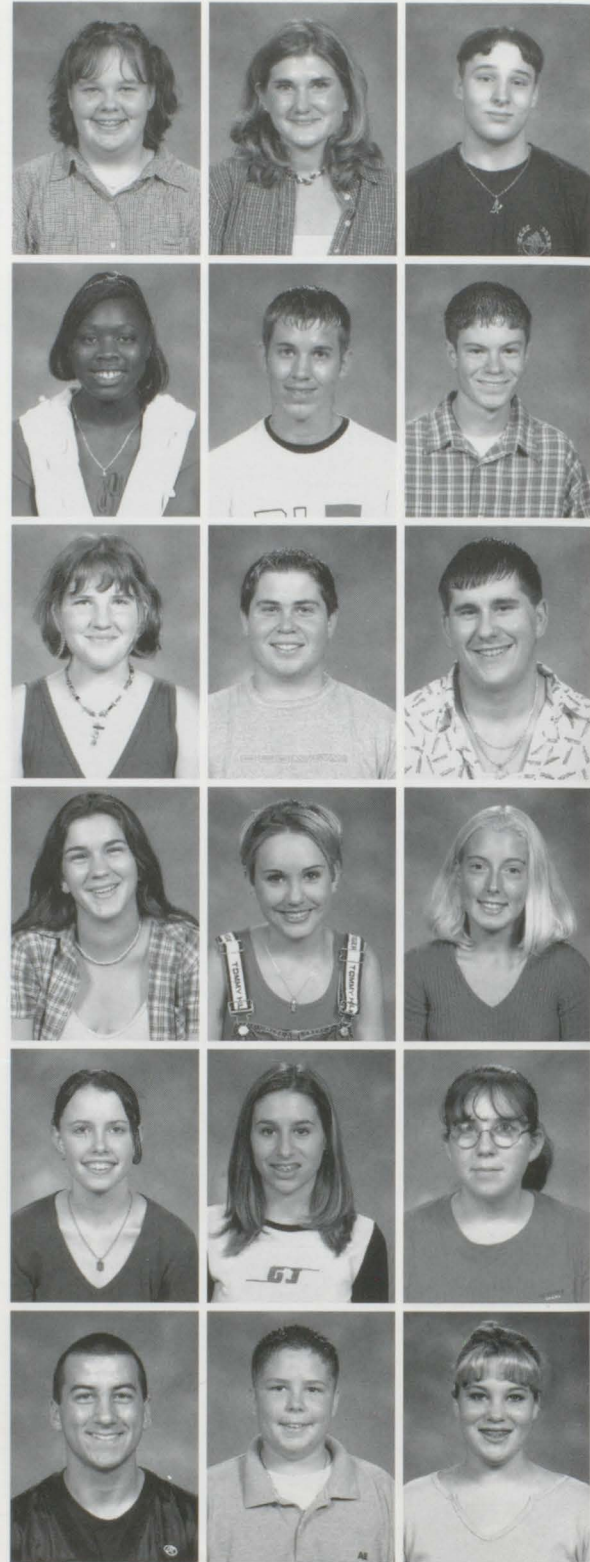

SHOW me your PASS

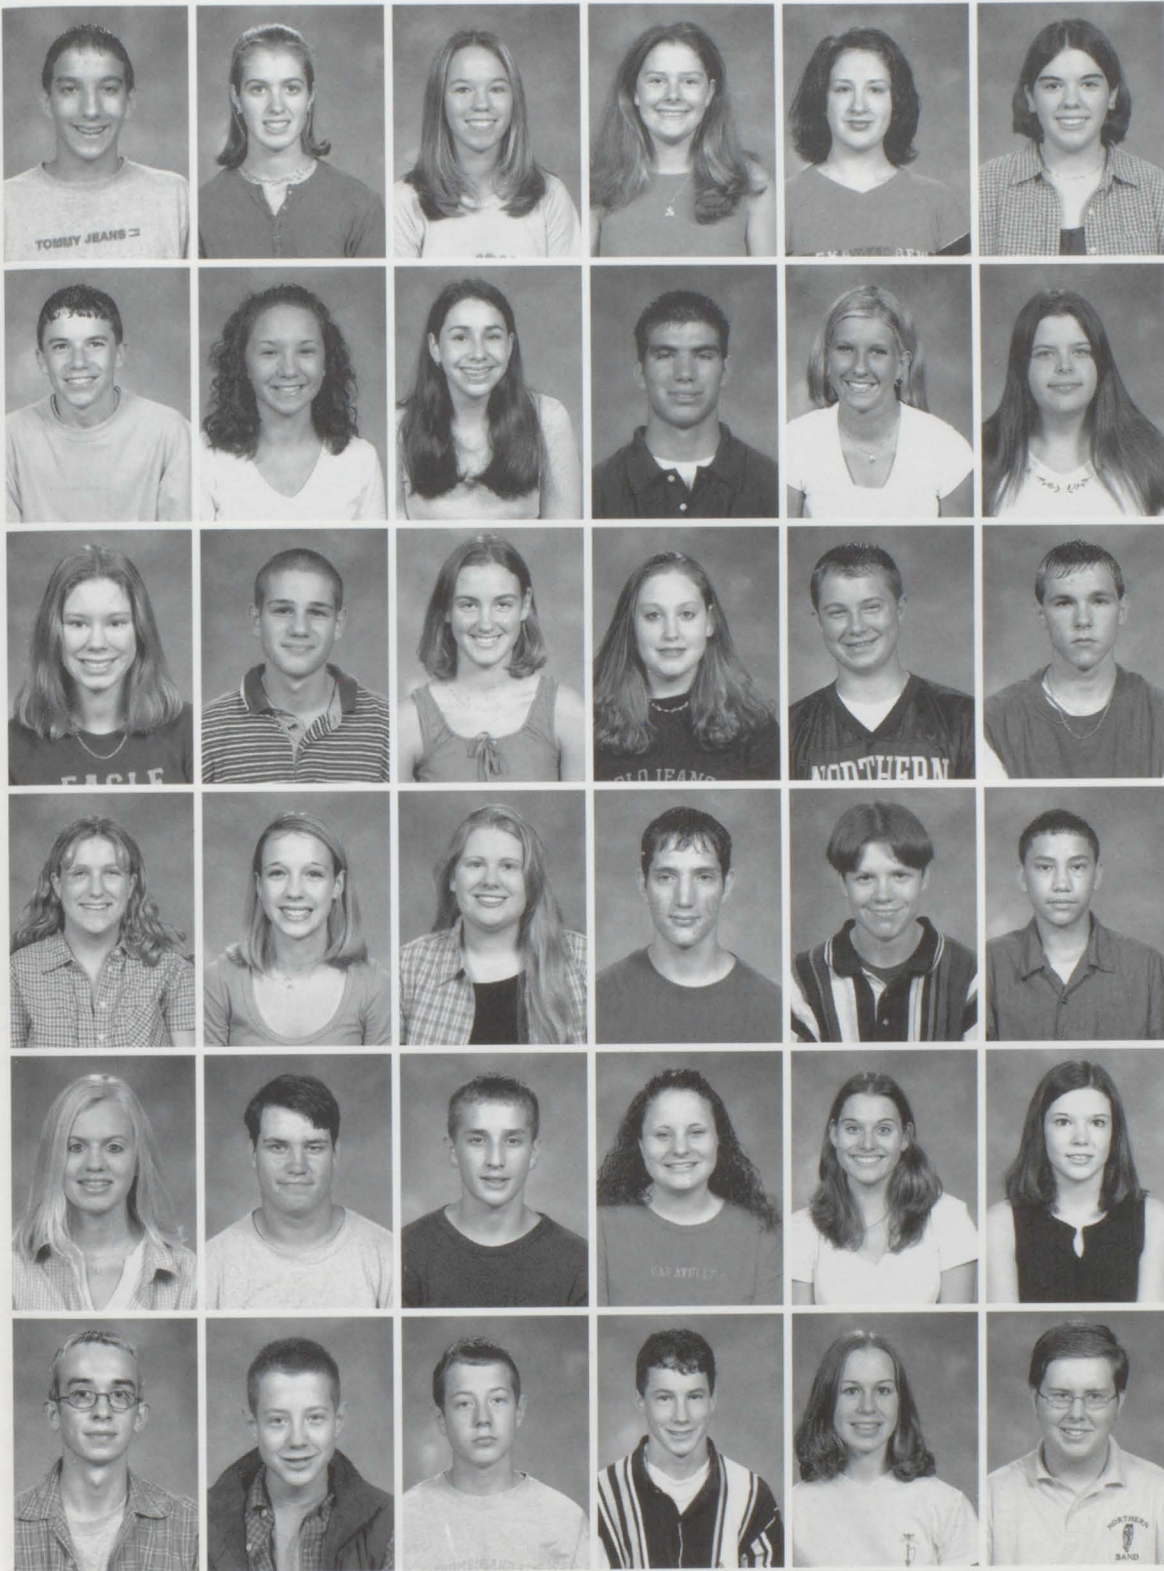

With a new year, came new rules regarding passes for being out in the halls, due to bomb threats. For example, the library had a new code for handling the ordeal. Each student had to sign in upon entering the library. The sheet asked for the date, time, the hour the student was in, and their signature that verified where they were during class time. Hall monitors also requested passes during the class time and students were only allowed in certain halls during lunches.

Most students felt that the policy did nothing to solve the problem. Kristie Laurie ('03) stated, "I think that it is stupid. There is no point... people will find ways to write on the bathroom stalls like during lunch or between classes." Some thought it was a hassle to sign in and out to use a bathroom that was just a couple paces away. Stacy Sargent (03) remarked, "I think that it is strict, but I think that the students brought it on themselves by making the threats." Others thought that there was no way to solve this problem and punishments were too harsh. "I don't think it's right to set a policy with consequences, in which all students are punished for just a few students immature pranks." Bobby Fields ('03) quipped.

Whether or not students used the halls during class time, the procedure to get out of class for five minutes to use the bathroom or the drinking fountain remained the same.

TWO of a KIND

Cassie Vazquez

What was it like to be a twin? For Tiffany Kilbourne ('03) "To be a twin is just like having another brother or sister who looks just like you. The best part is confusing people or blaming things on the other one." Although students thought it was cool to be a twin, there were bad sides to having one as well. Ashley Riddell (03) commented, "I don't like being a twin and the worst part is when they confuse us or get our names mixed up."

There were many twins that inhabited the halls and classrooms. A few from the class of ('03) were Tiffany and Stephanie Kilbourne, Kyle and Luke Leroy, Katie and Elizabeth Sand ,along with Jeffery and Joseph Pemberton. They shared the halls with Aimee and Alyssa Higgins and Sarah and Jennifer Wallis of the class of ('04). Although this seemed like a lot, there were many more throughout the other grades.

Twins left an impression on many students. Whether it was the confusion at seeing two people that looked similar, or just the unique fact that the school was filled with so many sets of twins, students remembered them.

WORKING WITH WASHINGTON

Mrs. Ellen Rogers

~In the front of most of the government classes, Corey Lambert ('03) introduces representative David Bonior.

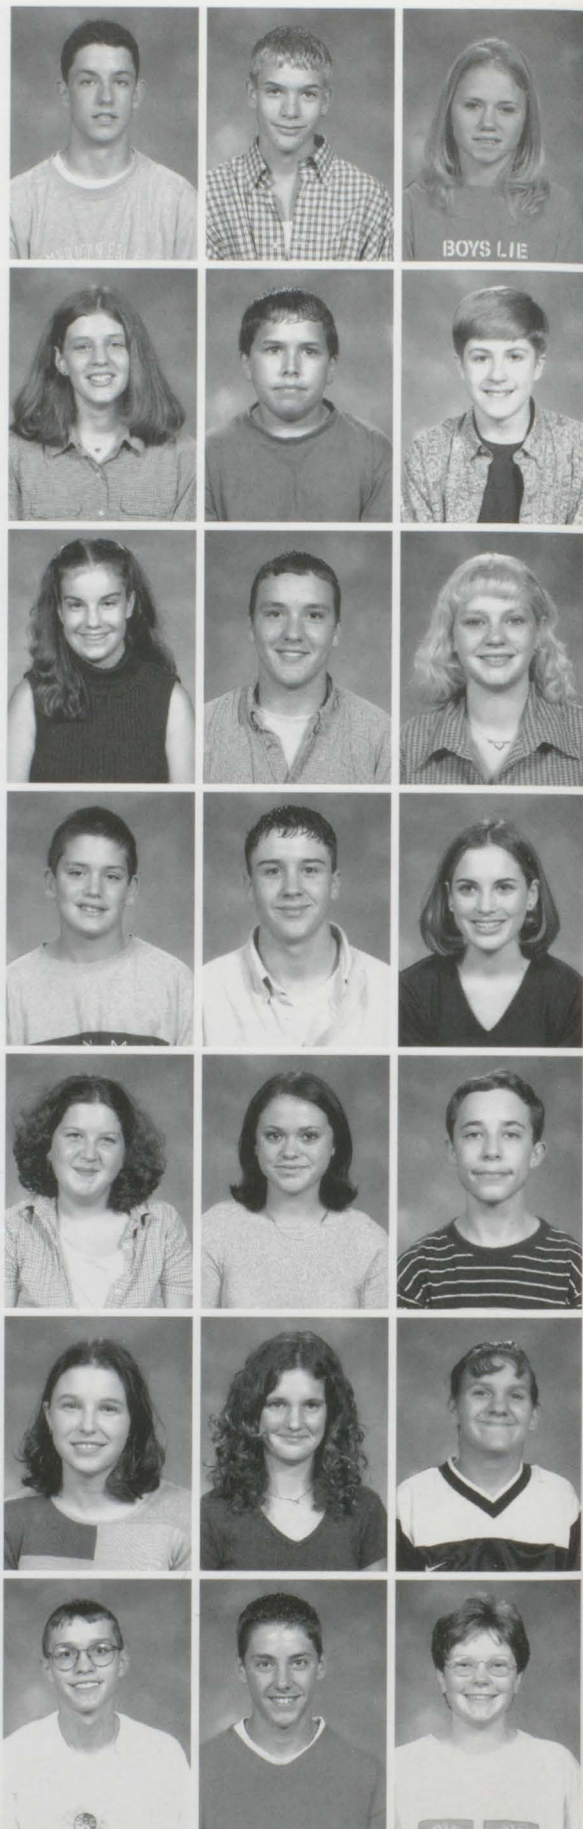

With the start of the school year, Mr. Lewandowski's Civics class used a new technique in its approach to politics. Students were asked to write a letter to a politician which asked him/her to come to the school and talk about current events and the workings of government.

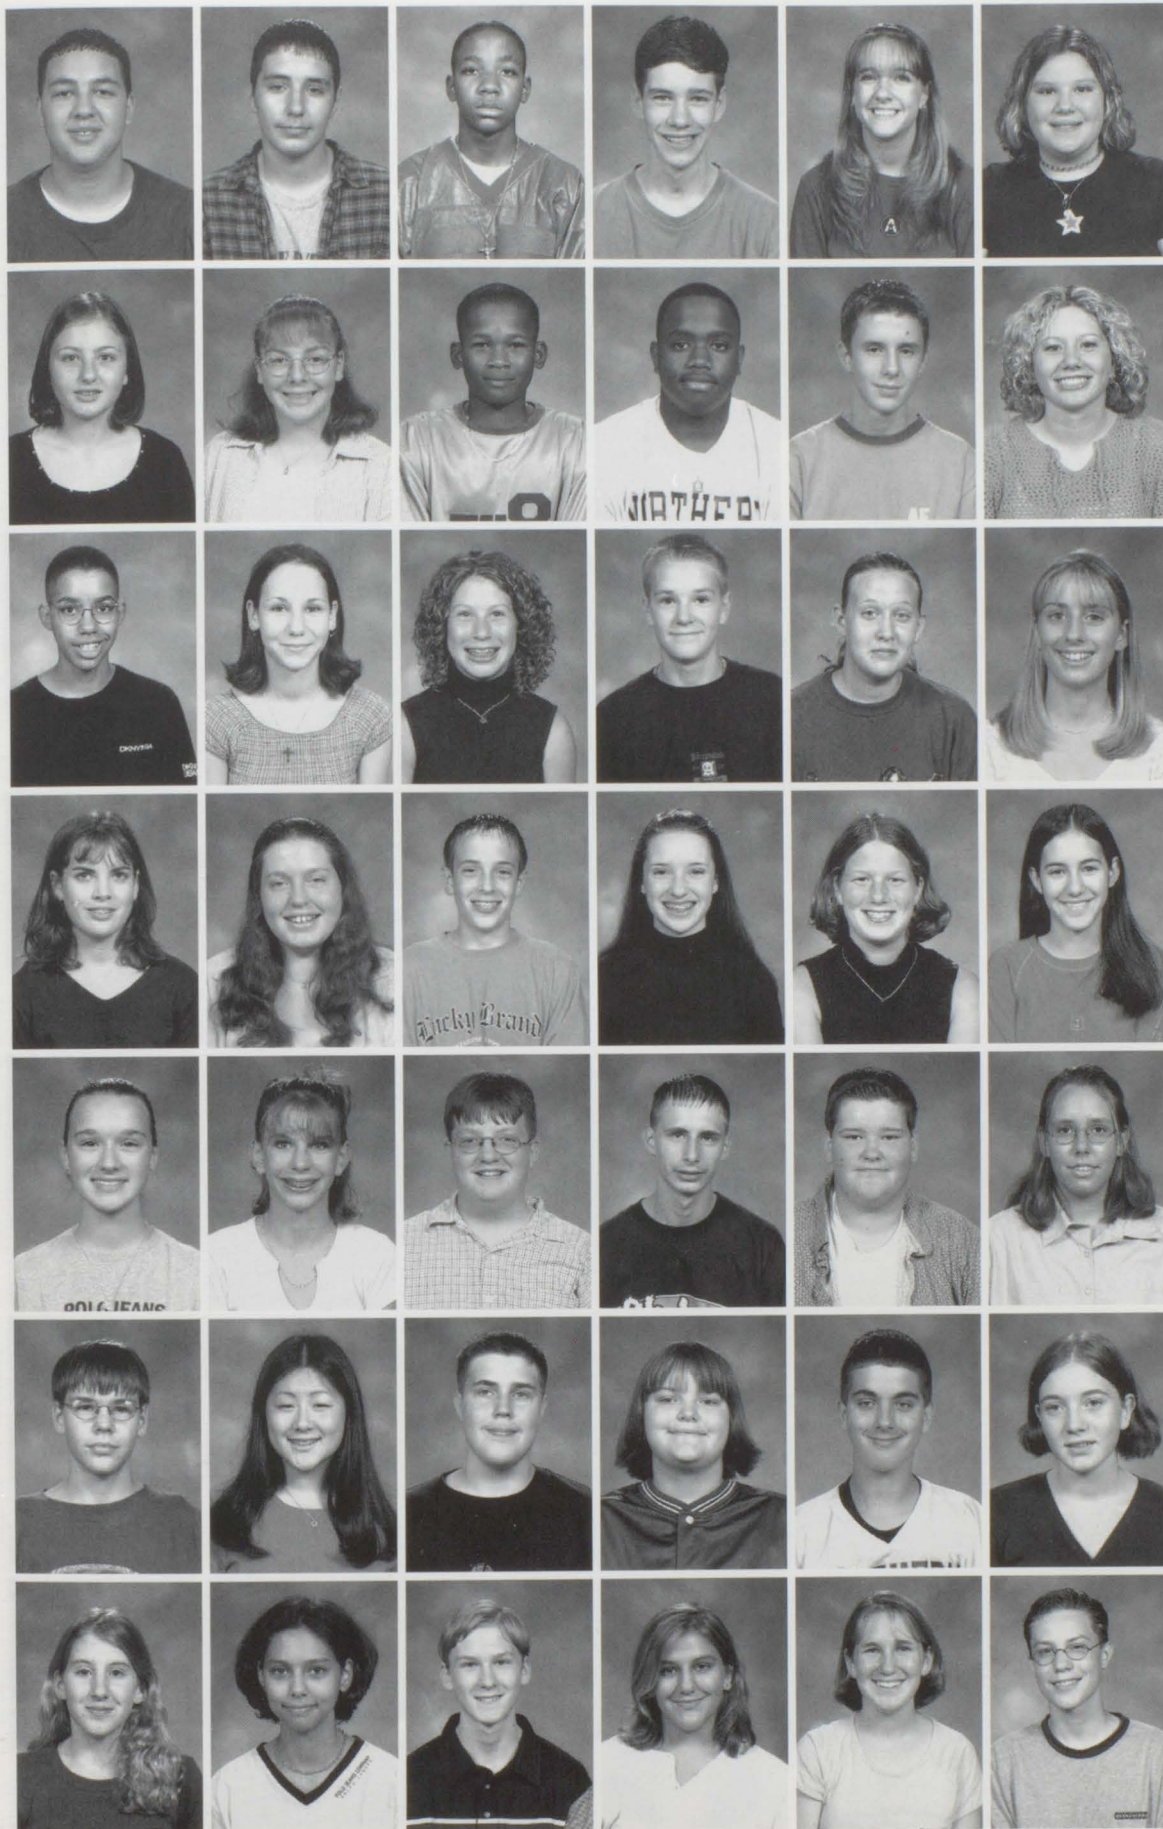

One student, Corey Lambert, e-mailed Congressmen David Bonior and received an invitation to join his "backyard breakfast." After talking over the details of his letter, Bonior agreed to spend a morning talking about politics to the student body on December the 1st.

Many issues were discussed and addressed at the assembly, including his stand on current happenings with the elections. The assembly was held in the crowded cafeteria as the speech was open to any class that wished to come. Also, teachers let their students watch the speech via television. "I thought it was a good influence on kids and he had a lot of good stuff to say," commented Jennifer Gray ('04). Mr. Bonior appeared during 3rd hour and talked to the beginning of 4th hour.

In all, he gave a first hand insight to the workings of politics and answered student questions regarding all aspects of government.

In loving memory
R.I.P.D

LEADER of the PACK

Growing up was hard to do. Many people had heard this and for most kids it was true. Everyone had plans for the future, and although many of them did not want to grow up, most of their plans consisted of a person that they looked up to or their role model. Many teenagers had role models, whether it was a singer or a writer, a nurse or a president.

Many students looked up to people that were smart or sports stars. "A good role model is someone who gets good grades and is good at basketball, like Mike Spears," commented Darren Kidd ('04). Other members of the student body had music artists as their role models. "My role model is Too Short," replied Nick Bennett ('04). "I love his music and it's pure talent". While most teenagers looked up to famous people, some looked for fame throughout their own family. "My role model is my own mother. She is dependent, smart, and successful in every way, just like I want to be when I grow up," answered Kaitlin Mills ('04) without hesitation.

No matter if it was a famous person or a person who had a special impact on the students' lives, they thought wisely before deciding who their role model was. Many also took special care when they decided upon which path to take for their future as this would affect the rest of their lives. The students realized that whoever they looked up to, they must impact their decisions in a helpful way.

NO place to GO

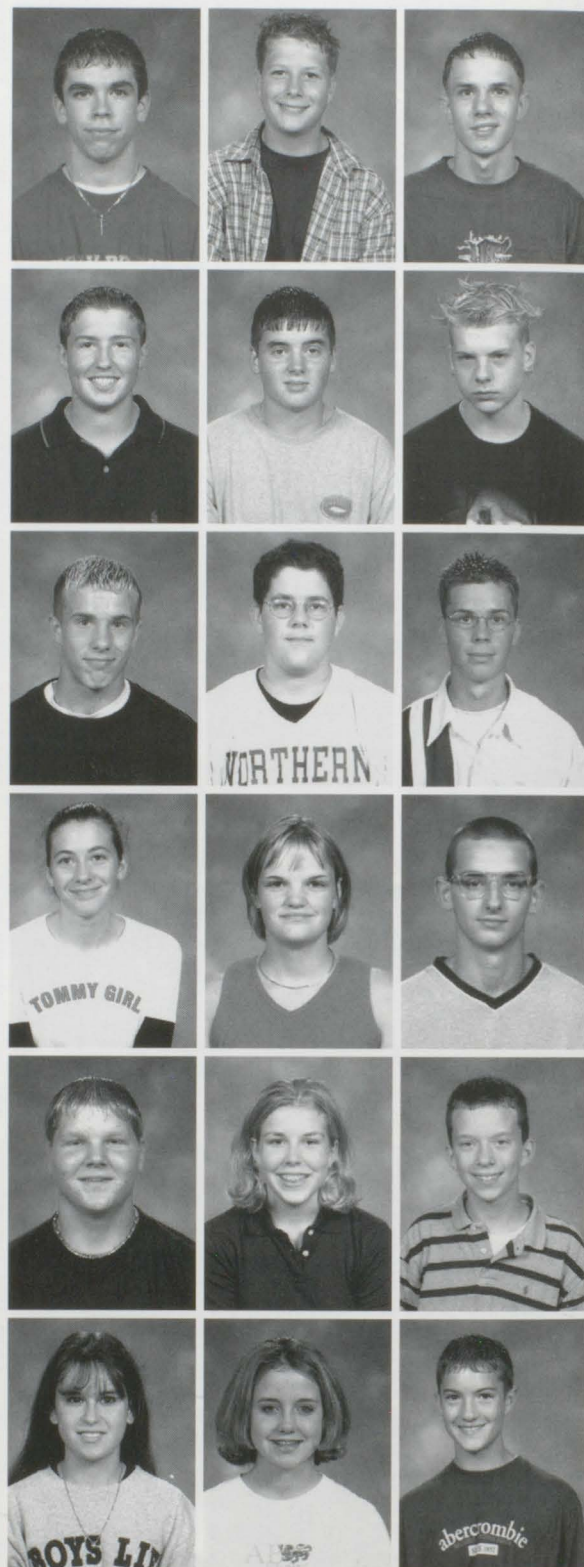

Chris D'Hulster

~Crowded halls after school prevent students from a speedy exit.

There were 1,763 students in the school. Why did it seem like students ran into every single one of their peers between classes? "It really depends on how much time you have. If you're in a hurry people seem to stop right in front of you and then you're like, hello?" stated Ashley Griffin ('04).

On the other hand, some people may not want to get to class right away, so the hallways were not a problem for them. Micah Stanislawski ('04) stated, "They don't bother me ... but it can get to be very stressful when you only have five minutes to get to class." So the question was why were the hallways such a problem? "People just walk slow!" quoted Cheri Thibod ('04). Although ideas of solutions to this problem were given (such as adding minutes in the hallway), none of them ended up solving the problem. Instead, the students pressed on through their daily ritual of trying to get through the crowded halls.

TALENT from the TEACHERS

David Kelley

~Several teachers refresh their skills by participating in the secondary band.

"Dashing through the snow, in a one-horse open sleigh..." Sound familiar? This was one of the many songs that the Secondary Band played at their Christmas Concert. The Secondary Band consisted of students who wanted to learn a new instrument, and also staff members who had played instruments while in high school. The staff members included Mr. Michael Artman, Mr. Dennis Dwyer, Mr. Raymond LaBelle, Mrs. Nancy Hohf, Mrs. Cheryl Wojtas, and Mrs. Kim Storey. Mrs. Wojtas stated, "Playing the bells was so much fun! I didn't know what I was missing playing piano!" The band played several different pieces, many being popular Christmas carols. Mrs. Nancy Hohf, who played the clarinet, added, "I really enjoyed playing in the band concert with the students. It's nice to have an opportunity to show that students and teachers can share a common interest. I hope I have a chance to play with them again."

I Have A Dream
'01

What actually goes into a class? Throughout the school, creative classes composed several periods in which students were able to use their talents to further their education. Some of these classes included performing arts, sign language, art and TV production. "Sign language is a lot of fun, because the teacher makes it fun and is always encouraging us to act out and use facial expressions. This is a huge part of American sign language. I enjoy it because it is my culture," stated Jessica Rogers ('02). Cedar Larson ('03) also stated "I liked writing my own story for sign language and signing it for the deaf students."

TV production also let students explore their creativity. "During the class, we do morning announcements, animation and music." stated Kate Sand ('03). Also known as NTV, TV production students learned how to perform broadcasts, in which they wrote their own scripts. Common skills learned in the class included basic home videos and how to take proper shots.

Art is a way for people to express themselves. This is the same for students that took Art class. Those who like exploring their creative sides learned how to create images using basic skills. Some of these techniques are shading, using a vantage point, horizon line, and blending. Students composed pictures and portraits using methods taught to them in class.

Creative classes allowed students the opportunity to get out of the normal class room situation and explore further possibilities through interactions with various situations. N.T.V., sign language, art and performing arts all allowed students a further option to their schedule.

Hard at work in Japanese, our Japanese exchange student Emie Iijima, finds her assignments relatively easy. Students from all over the world including Australia, Germany, and Brazil came to Northern this year.

How can students visit France from the comfort of their classroom? One way was by taking French class. Through the available three-year program, students were able to go from being beginners to having an extensive background in the French language.

So what made them take this class? Mike Reed ('03) replied, "I liked it back in middle school and some of my friends were taking French class." Once they were in the class, students participated in activities such as oral presentations, "foods day", and even singing Les Marsailles, the French national anthem. Some students thought that this made learning more fun. "I look forward to this class everyday," commented Jackie Rogers ('02), a second-year French student. Maybe that was why so many students went on to complete all three years of French. Allison Ludy ('02) said, "I'll take a third year of French because it's a good thing to know for the future."

Students came from the class with new knowledge of a foreign language which they planned to use whenever they got a chance. Rebecca Seppo ('01) remarked, "I enjoy speaking French and making people wonder what I'm saying!"

From their own classrooms, many students visited far away lands everyday. They learned new skills and had fun at the same time.

Computers have helped to put our country at the forefront of technology. They have changed the way people work, play and even communicate. Students use them to reaserch projects, play games, communicate with people they've never met, and send letters to people on the other side of the planet in mere seconds.

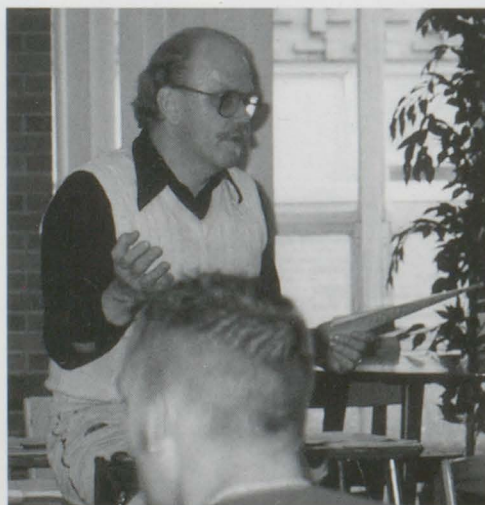

Most students use computers to go online. Kristen Lorenzo, ('03), said that her favorite thing about computers was "the internet and e-mail." Paula Valencia, ('02), is here as an exchange student from Chile. She said that she used instant messenger to communicate with her friends and family back home.

Blair Carson, ('03), stated "their memory and speed really helps with homework. They're revolutionizing the world as we speak and they really help bring people together." Mike Navarro, ('02), likes computers because he "can type reports for school on them and play games on them too."

Computers are great inventions, and teachers will probably be the first to agree with students coming in a close second. They make tasks easier to complete, reports easier to read and letters easier to mail. Technology has come a long way in the past twenty years with the invention of personal computers and it will undoubtably go twice that far in the next twenty years with the invention of personal computers, and it will undoubtably go twice that far in the next twenty.

Looking Beyond '01

During their tenth grade year, students here at Northern decided what they wanted to do with their lives. Many had always felt a certain pull towards one job ever since they were little, but others were still trying to figure it all out. Once a decision was made, students worked out their schedules for their junior year from a number of different choices. A few of those choices included the school-to-work program and classes at TEC. TEC is a school that offers "hands on" training for a profession of their choice. Courses that were available at TEC were culinary arts, drafting, construction, medical technology, electronics, cosmetology and automotive classes. Students such as Ashley Richardson ('01) said, "It gives us a chance to get out of the classroom and work on skills that will pertain to our future careers." Chad Gammons ('01), stated, "TEC is a lot better than regular school because you learn something that you are interested in, and it's something that is hands-on, rather than constant book work." "I am taking Nursing at TEC, and I like it, because we get to meet other people from other schools and work together, despite our differences, to reach a common goal. It helps me to prepare for my future because I get to learn about the profession of my choice. It also helps me make up my mind about it that I really want to do with my life," explained Rachel Carter ('01).

TEC gave students the opportunity to explore career options while they were still in high school. They could experiment with the different choices as they learned about them. They got the opportunity to hone their skills so that, after graduation, they can go right in to the work force and be fully prepared to put their "nose to the grindstone."

Tests, stress, headaches, tests, a heavy work load, and more tests. These are no slacking off classes. These were what made up AP classes. These college level courses were becoming increasingly popular among students. Although some wondered what the point of taking an advanced class was, A.P. students had their reasons. For some, passing the college board's exam in May and earning a collage credit for it was good enough incentive. Yet others enjoyed the accelerated learning and the challenge that each class presented. When asked about her favorite part of AP English, Devin Stein ('01) commented, "I really enjoy the disscussions we have in AP English. All of us are so different that a lot of interesting ideas come up. Bryan Browning and I get in heated arguments but it's all in good fun."

Seniors aren't the only ones who feel the weight of responsibility that these classes bring. Many underclassmen were included in the class rosters of A.P. American Literature, A.P. Biology, and A.P. Chemistry. Ryan Majeske ('02) commented on the high points of being in an advanced/college prep class by saying, "Well, it's a more challenging class to be in. It makes you work harder."

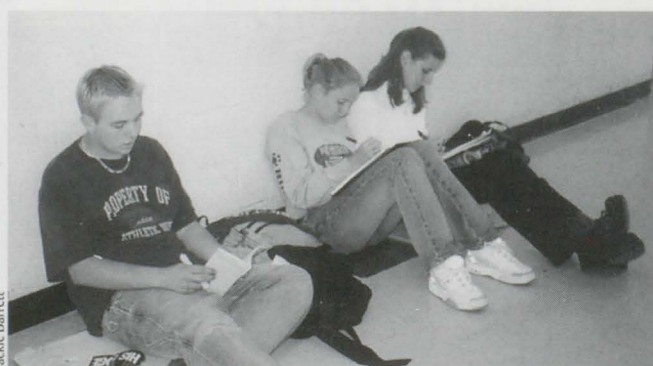

Six Advanced Placement classes and many college preparation classes were offered to students of all grades. With such a variety of classes students were able to earn a great deal of college credit and preparation before graduation. That made all the extra effort worth it to the students that chose to take these extraordinary classes.

What's the first sign of public speaking? Butterflies in your stomach, people staring at you, and stuttering were classic signs of presenting a project or presentation in front of a group of people. Many teachers throughout the school had their students perform a mandatory presentation to pass the class. "I don't really mind giving presentations in front of the class, as long as I know what I'm talking about," stated Kristina Kosel ('01). Presentations included not only oral speeches, but also explanations on poster boards, power points and other visual aides.

Other classes, however, focused more on hands on activities for learning. Chemistry for example required students to perform experiments and evaluate their findings. "Information in science comes through experimentation, so learning the scientific method is important. People learn differently and 'hands on science' is a great way to construct ideas and develop new concepts," commented Dr. William Johnston. Anatomy also performed hands on activities that included a dissection of a feline and observation of various cells.

Since many teachers, such as Dr. Johnston, tested the learning styles of their students, they knew whether their students learned globally or analytically. Global students were those that learned best in a hands on environment and through the use of colors, while analytical students were those that learned best through reading their books and researching things. By performing projects and presentations both groups were helped. The global students were able to participate in a hands on activity while the analytical students enjoyed researching and learning more about their topic. This was one reason why so many teachers tried to incorporate experiments and presentations into their classes. Not only did they help reinforce what had been taught, they also made it a friendlier environment for many students. Tim Ludington ('03) remarked, "I like lab days because it's like taking a break from the confusion of the classroom."

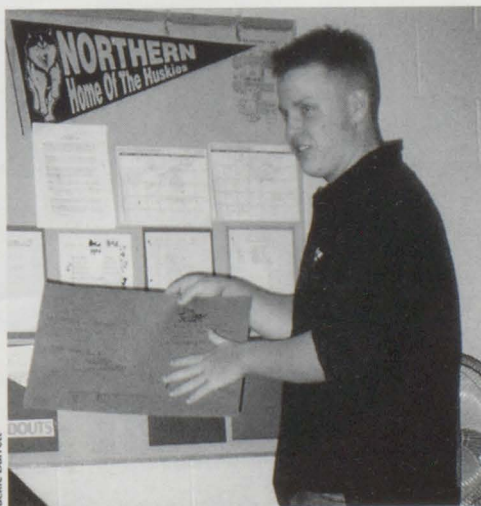

In all, classes varied not only in the subjects they taught, but also in how the students interacted with the material. Projects and presentations, along with experiments proved to be a very useful tool for learning.

While they enjoy the warm weather of September, Amy Balough ('02) and Lindsay Quandt ('02) laugh at the humor in their novels. Taking a break from the class room offered students to do their school work in a more comfortable fashion. Often times this led to better focused students.

Fitness; exercise. These words scare some people, and make others jump with joy. Most people have their own way of staying in shape during the summer. Although when the snow starts falling and you have the option of either staying in your nice, warm bed or going for a grueling two mile run through the slush, it's easy to lose your drive.

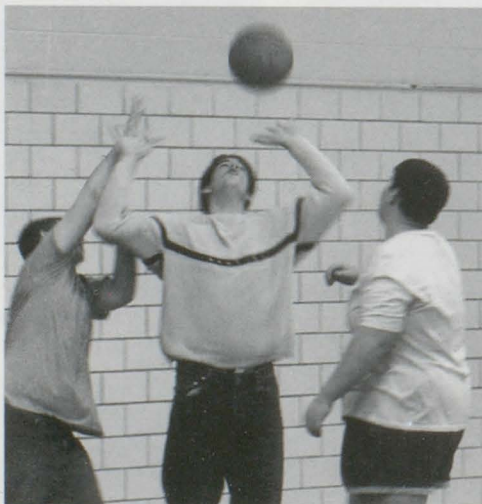

Many students join winter sports teams such as hockey or figure skating, and others simply continue with whatever they do the rest of the rest of the year. Freshman Ashley Hinton plays defense on a girls hockey team and volleyball to keep in shape during the colder months. Devin Smith, 04, says "I am a winger on a hockey team. We are on the ice 4 to 6 times a week. I also work out and lift weights to get stronger."

Sophomore Sarah McBrien does weights and gymnastics all year round. She also says she "likes going to Birchwood athletic club because it's fun and there's a wide variety of choices." Renee Neal, 02, plays tennis at the Port Huron Tennis House. She too enjoys going to the athletic club. Jolene Bricker, 03, says "I go to swim practice every nitght and once a week I go over to Birchwood Athletic Club and do weights."

So, while exercising in the winter time isn't as easy as it is in the summer, it is possible. If you want to be with the other people, then the Birchwood Athletic Club sounds like the place to go, and they have a lot to offer, so it is easy to see why they're so popular. So this winter, don't worry about getting in shape for spring sports, stay in shape for them!

Student Council

STUDENTS IN ACTION

Who ever said that high schools are not democracies? It may be true that the students must follow the rules set by the administration, but students can voice their opinions in many different ways. One of those was Student Council. The council itself was made up of five officers and an executive board, along with Mrs. Janet Eastman, the advisor. In addition, each class had four officers and about a dozen class representatives. One representative, Nadia Elgoghail ('02) stated, "My favorite thing about Student Council is the different and exciting things we get to participate in for school and the community."

The Student Council met early in the morning (7:00am) in order to keep the representatives informed of what was happening. Members of Student Council also put in many hours of service outside of school. One of those students was SaraJo Friend ('02), who was quoted, "I only wish that more people would participate in Student Council."

Being a member of Student Council required commitment, effort, and responsibility. It also gave students a role in planning and decided what went on in their school. Junior class secretary Maria Noetzel ('02) commented, "I joined student council because you get to be a major part of what goes on at Northern. MAKE THE DEADLINE

Newspaper/Yearbook

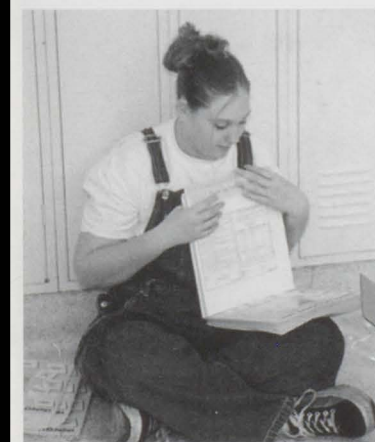

STRESS! DEADLINES! LAYOUTS! The Husky Herald was a student-produced publication advised by Mr. Becker. There was about a three day time period for the information to be collected. The tip sheets were turned in and Mr. Becker and the editors-in-chief decided what writer will write what story. The reporters needed to be able to get the whole story. Sarah Partipilo ('01) stated, "Before we even start writing you have to check your beats. A beat is something that you are in charge of to gather information. My beat is N.H.S. So I go to that organization and get a tip. Then you turn two tips into the chief editor and they choose what you will report on." More than one perspective was necessary. The editing process began soon after the stories were turned in. Normally within a week or two the newspaper was ready to be passed out to the students and staff. The cost of a newspaper was free. Betsy Livingston ('03) added, "Newspaper is fun. I enjoy being able to write things and voice my opinion."

Yearbook was similar in that there were also deadlines, layouts, and plenty of stress. From faulty computers to staying after school until 9:00 to finish a deadline, Yearbook was always a challenge. "Things just seemed to disappear," stated People Editor Chris D'Hulster ('02). Even though things were often hard to find in a crowded office, they eventually turned up (usually). With two large classes, it was often difficult to stay organized. In the end everything worked out, and Spirit 2001-Fascination became a reality.

Marching Band

THE SOUNDS OF FOOTBALL

"This one time, at band camp..." This was a familiar saying often heard among members of the marching band as they joked around during their long hours of marching practice. They practiced regardless of the cold, rain, or muddy fields. In addition to that, they were required to be at every home Varsity Football Game. Marching Band was a class for a second straight year. In addition to playing at football games, members of the Marching Band also entered several competitions, including the M.S.B.O.A. "My favorite event to play for is our marching competitions because people are there to see us because they want to be there, not because they're watching a football game," commented Shauna Bircheat ('01).

The Marching Band also held several fund-raisers, including a car wash and a Halloween dance. A trip to Virginia Beach was also planned, but was canceled due to lack of interest. The band was also featured in several concert performances. They included the Christmas Concert for the parents and also one for the students. Mike Rigney ('03) stated, "My favorite song to play was Christmas in the Round because the percussion got to do two solos that were really fun." All in all, the Marching Huskies had a fun and successful year!

Before the PH/PHN assembly, Matt Carbary ('01) and the rest of the marching band performs in the hallways. When the band passed a classroom, the students from that room were sent to the gym for the assembly.

At the band car wash, Rachel Lamphier ('02), Mike Toles ('01), and Jordan Schrader ('01) dry a persons car. The carwash raised over $1,000 for the band.

SONG AND DANCE

Colorguard/Jazz Band

Everyone knows that the marching band performs at football games. It was a half-time show, however, with band providing the music and the members of colorguard creating a visual spectacle that entertained the crowds. "I joined colorguard because it looked like fun and I wanted a challenge, so I tried it out and ended up loving it," commented Stephanie Plohoft ('03). The nine person team was led by captain Kara Dombroski ('02), and co-captain Ashley MacCallum ('02). "The hardest thing to do in colorguard is to get all of us together. We all have different personalities and are all thinking about different things. So it is pretty hard to make everyone think one way," stated MacCallum. The members of the team formed strong bonds over the season, attending band camp under the direction of Bridgette Bennett, and practicing often. Jane McMillan ('03) said, "The best part is the bond that forms between you and the other members of guard. You become like a family."

After taking a year off, the Jazz Band reformed, with only two returning members (Dan Horn ('01) and Bryan Browning ('01)). An extracurricular activity rather than a class, Jazz Band met once a week after school. They performed on several occasions, including the Christmas Concert, playing recent hit songs, such "Smooth." Their performance spiced up the concert, and brought down the house!

BATTLE OF BRAINS

Toss-up: Who was born Leslie Lynch King Jr.? Buzz! Gerald Ford? Correct! This may seem strange when it is written down, but this is what a Quiz Bowl meet sounded like. Quiz Bowl was made up of students who "knew everything," well not everything, but almost. The Varsity Team was led by captain Joe Raisenan ('01), and was coached by Ms. Jill Parrott and Ms. Lisa Schiecher for a second year. Long-time team member Katie Burgett ('01) commented, "I joined party because the team is made up of my closest friends-we have a great time together." The JV team were coached by Ms. Cathy Murray for a third consecutive year. Both teams were tough competition for the other teams in the league. "We do pretty good and beat just about everyone," stated Allison Dugan ('02).

Another club that required students to use their brain-power was Destination Imagination. As a branch of Odyssey of the Mind, it presented several students with problems to which they had to find solutions. "My favorite part about being a member of Destination Imagination is the last weekend cramming when we stay up until 3:00am working with power tools," exclaimed Andrew Ogden ('01). Although it was a small club, members of Destination Imagination had just as much fun as any other organization!

SERVICE WITH STYLE

National Honor Society

With boxes of food safely packed in their cars, many students from the class of '01 and the class of '02 drove around town delivering meals on Thanksgiving Day. This was just one of the services that was rendered to the community by the National Honor Society members. Each semester, these students were required to earn points, usually at least 200. Twenty points were earned per hour of community service that was performed. Although it was sometimes difficult to achieve all 200 points, most members seemed to enjoy the community service. "The best thing about N.H.S. is that it gets the students out giving back to the community," commented Audrey Whaling ('01).

The National Honor Society worked on many projects such as the Festival of Trees, Meals-On-Wheels, and school carnivals. Also they had the opportunity to help a local hospital by donating crayons and coloring books to terminally ill children. The students rose to the occasion and brought in much more than were anticipated for this endeavor.

Since first hour began at 7:37am, before school meetings started even earlier than they had in previous years. The meetings started promptly at 7:00 which was difficult for some students who enjoyed those extra minutes of sleep. "I think N.H.S. should meet after school. We have to get up early enough as it is.," remarked Jordan Schrader ('01). Despite the early meeting, most of the members arrived promptly to every meeting.

DOWN THE LANES

Swim Team/Bowling

Did anyone know that there was a bowling team? Well there was, and they practiced on Tuesdays and Thursdays after school at Port Huron Lanes. They also had matches and/or tournaments every week. Most of the team members had been bowling since they were about nine or ten. Matt Langolf ('02) said, "My whole family had bowled, so I started. I thought it would be a good experience." Other team members have not been bowling for very long. Ryan Waite ('02) stated, "I started approximately one year ago. I got started by bowling with a friend who is also on the team."

Another club was the Swim Team. They met at the Y.M.C.A. after school. Rigorous training and practice was required to become a strong swimmer. "The hardest thing is time management and being tired all the time because it is so exhausting," stated Jackie Blair ('03). Being on the swim team was also a great way to meet new friends. Jolene Bricker ('03), said, "You get to meet a lot of people that normally you would not even talk to, and everyone usually looks out for everyone else. It's just a lot of fun. The funniest thing would have to be the jokes and tricks that you can ply on your friends at practice and at meets." Even though swimming and bowling were not publicized as much as other sports, team members put in just as much work and had just as much fun.

Lace up those skates and hit the ice. Being a member of the Figure Skating team required a tremendous amount of time and effort. Megan Lardner ('02) "Most of the members of our team also skate with the Port Huron Figure Skating Club, so we practice almost every day. The team practices together at Glacier Point." The team also competed in several competitions. Lardner added, "My favorite memory was when we were in Boston, and they announced that we had won the competition for a second time." Since they practiced so often, team members became very close friends. Marissa Hayes ('04) was quoted as saying, "My most memorable time during figure skating was being with my friends and having fun doing the sport I enjoy."

When someone hears the words "Close-Up" they may think of a boring old government program. But the students who attended the inauguration will tell you differently, "I thought Close-Up was one of the best trips I had ever been on. I met tons of great friends and learned more about our government," added Theresa Laeder ('01). These twenty-eight students along with three staff members had the opportunity to attend the opening ceremonies, during which Ricky Martin and Jessica Simpson performed. Along with all the festivities, students met with senators, attended seminars, and sat-in on the John Ashcroft confirmation hearings. Andrew Ogden ('01) added, "The Senator we heard was extremely civil towards Ashcroft. I'm glad I saw it." The students of close-up learned much about the Federal Government, and all agreed that Close-Up was one of the best experiences they had ever had.

KEEPING THE BEAT

North Stars/Choir

North Stars, also known as the dance team, gave students a chance to express themselves through music. The dance team was an activity that students were very dedicated to, since the team practiced at 5:30a.m. "The hardest part of dance isn't the 5:30 in the morning practices, nor is it dealing with your team mates. The hardest part is listening and ignoring the criticism from our peers who don't take us seriously because they don't fully understand or appreciate what we do," stated Christine Hill ('03). One of the main things in dance was synchronization, that is, being in tone with the music. The girls got their chance to perform during half time at the basketball games and in competitions. "The biggest competition would be Nationals. They are held in Ohio," said Meagan McIntyre ('01).

Choir also required a lot of dedication from its members. "When I first started in choir I had no idea how to do anything musically, except sing with the radio. Now I know how to read staffs, hit the right pitchess, perform for concerts and competitions, and how to sing correctly without straining your voice. For anyone who wants to do something chorally in their future, I would definitely suggest this," commented Ashley MacCallum ('02). Another Choir member, Cassie Vazquez ('01) explained, "Choir has taught me dedication and determination as well as patience. Most of all, it has taught me to be proud of my ability, because it is a gift and I shouldn't fear my sound."

Radio 91.9 WORW

RIDE THE WAVE

Students have seen T-shirts, they have the window stickers, and tune in every day to listen to high school radio on W.O.R.W. 91.9 FM. They all know where it is; that big room with the comfy couches filled with staff members working on new projects, doing on air shows or doing homework, yet, that all changed.

After summer changes, staff members of W.O.R.W. entered a room different from the radio station they had known. Where the couches were, there was rows of desks and the station had been pushed back into 3 small rooms. "I just wondered if I would have any space to breathe in there," said Katie Purcell ('02), a staff member, and all agreed saying it would take some getting used to and some major adjustments.

Although it could be difficult situation having a class and a radio station in the same room, there were some positive outlooks on the situation. "I think that, after a while, we'll all get used to the change and radio is still a fun class," stated A.J. Faulkner ('01), program director.

So the radio station changed with the times, as most things must, while the staff adjusted to their new surroundings. A.J. Faulkner commented, "As long as we're still playing music, it'll be all right."

ACTING IT

OUT

Drama Club

"We love you Conrad, oh yes we do. Oh Conrad we love you!"

That was a phrase that stuck like glue in the minds of those who took part in the all-school play, Bye Bye Birdie. With a new advisor on hand, Ms. DeAnn Teff, students were chosen to fill the parts for the play. Ms. Colleen King took on the position of dance choreographer.

As members of the drama club, students had the chance to learn various dance steps and vocal training before auditioning for the play. "I'm glad that we were able to practice before auditioning. I probably would have been lost if we hadn't," stated Shauna Krainbrink ('02).

Several meetings were held once the positions were filled. They were meant to inform students of the various backstage groups and when practices would take place. Crew members found a change in the way things were run. For one thing, there were various groups, opposed to students helping out in every area as in years past. Each group had an adult supervising them, which was also a change. "Having various groups helped out a lot. It wasn't as confusing and we got more done," Danielle Luther ('01) explained.

Drama was a time to break out of shells and open up in front of an audience. Students could express themselves and have fun doing it at the same time.

EVERY SHOT COUNTS

Who ever said that girls can not play hockey? Well, they got their chance to play on an all-girls team. The team members had to work extremely hard to be ready for their games. Team member Julia Carolan ('01), said "For me, the hardest part is learning my position and exactly where to go. Getting those jerseys over the equipment is not that easy either!" In fact, some of the girls had never played hockey before or even figure skated. Nadia Elgoghail ('02) stated, "I enjoy being on the hockey team because of the challenge it presents, as well as it being an excellent new experience. My favorite part is having fun with a great group of people."

Hockey was not the only new sport in which girls could participate in. There was also a Girls Golf Team. The team was coached by Mrs. Linda Peattie, who herself was an experienced golfer. The team entered several tournaments. Team member Rachel Merritt ('02) stated, "We were on our way to a tournament and we were playing the word game, well actually trying to figure out what Mrs. Peattie says before she tees off." One thing was for sure: the girls always had a good time. Kelly Wilkenson ('03) sure did, she said "I really enjoyed being on the team."

The Best Game

Everyone has a game that they will always have memories of. Some are good games, some are bad games, and some of them are merely fun experiences.

Rheannon Gerlach ('01) stated "The best game definitely had to be at Marine City. At first, they beat us and had us all down, but we ended up playing them again, and we killed them. All it took was a lot of dedication and teamwork."

"When we played Marine City for the first time, it was awful," remembered Jackie Kinney (01). "They killed us and we were pretty bummed. But then we found out we were playing them again, and we beat them. I think the most important thing is that we bonded as a team!"

Megan Murphy ('02) added, "The double header we played against Marysville was the best. They beat us by two points the first game, but then, in the second game, we came back at them."

The attitude of the Varsity huskies gave them a great season with thirteen wins.

Red in the Face

The JV and Freshmen softball teams each had great seasons. For the freshmen, getting a new group to mold together proved a challenging task. The already experienced JV had a bit of an easier time this spring. However, each player on the teams had one thing in common: their most embarrassing moments. That's right, the goof ups and major fumbles that go untold...

"My most embarrassing moment was at the end of one of our games, my teammate told me I had my pants on backward," remembered Nicole Waters ('02).

"I was rounding first and slipped in the outfield because the ground was wet," laughed Laura Brennan ('03).

Jennifer Kurkowski ('03) painfully stated, "I was getting ready to hit the ball...I missed and it hit me in the head."

Whether they slipped, tripped, or just plain missed, the JV and Freshmen softball teams have a lot to recall... and joke about.

Desperately calling to teammates, Laura Brennan ('03) jumps up to catch the ball and tag out Romeo. As catcher for the freshmen, Brennan had eleven put outs during the season.

Ready on the mound, Megan Scheible ('03) focuses on what the catcher signals. Scheible's stats were good enough to earn her a spot on the JV team near the end of the season. While on the freshmen team, she struck out twelve of 121 batters.

Arm rifled back ready to throw his curve ball, Nathan Korff ('02) looks to strike out a Marine City batter. As a key pitcher, he helped the Huskies earn a 7-2 win. For all of his efforts, Korff earned the honor of All-Mac Red player.

ONE UP A HOME RUN HIT ON DECK

Let's Play Ball!

Hardworking and determined would best describe the Varsity baseball team. But those qualities could not pull them together. In 21 games, the Huskies came up with a final record of 9-12. It was kind of a rough year.

"We had a lot of goof-offs. Sports can be fun, but you have to be serious," commented Joe Hustek ('01). This attitude hindered their Huskies in their quest of districts, which they lost to L'anse Cruse.

Other Huskies also felt the team was not working as one. Looking back, Lee Mosurak ('01) found the most difficult part of the season was, "Overcoming lack of the team unity! Everybody hated everybody it seemed at times. The only way we could win districts is if we got along. I hope we do this year."

Still some see it a different way. "Being part of a hardworking team who always helped each other out and had fun," was Russ Burkhard's ('01) favorite part of the season. It all comes down to the effort the players put in to the game. Whether or not they felt good about the season, each player shared the same trait: love of the game.

Although stressful, baseball was buckets of fun. "The ups and downs of baseball," remembers Mark Evans ('03) of the freshmen team, "in the beginning we did okay but by the end of the season we started working together and played our hearts out. But overall, we had fun!"

On the JV team, Dan Gilbert ('02) remembers the competition, "It wasn't really that tough. No team was dominating. We were just as good as any other team out there or even better."

"We had all the talent in the world, great coaches, and good attitudes. We did not play up to our potential. That's the key in any sport," said Nate Albers ('02)

These two teams overcame the anxiety and played to the best of their abilities. Although they had rough seasons, they remained good sports. No matter the situation, the players proved strong in ability as well as spirit.

Speed, endurance, and strength are just three of the many things that track requires. Long work outs and hard work were also part of the bargain. Even though snow still blanketed the ground, many athletes prepared for the upcoming season. Hassan Ali (03) states, "I went to Birchwood Athletic club to work out."

When the season arrived the men's and women's track teams were ready to go, starting off with a win against Ford II. Although that momentum did not carry through the season. Both teams suffered disappointing losses to both Sterling Heights and Stevenson. "We might not have been strong as a team, but we had heart and got along well. We won and lost as a team and we were very proud of our performance," remembered Anna Raymo ('01).

A tough season did not keep the Huskies away from states. Qualifiers were Melissa Ullenbruch ('01), Julie Kamer ('00), Jim Palmateer ('00), Kris Kessel ('00), Mike McArthur ('00), Dan Cross ('00) and Andy Marzka ('01). Unfortunately the dogs did not bring home any state titles.

WHAT A SEASON!

After a great season the previous year, the tennis team was back with more fulfilling experiences of teamwork, hard work, and dedication.

The JV season kicked off with the team winning 4-3 in their first match. But the team did not stop there. They went on to hold a record of 4-4 under the direction of Coach Crowell. The team downed rival Port Huron, Eisenhower, and even Ford II, giving the players something to brag about.

Similarly, the Varsity team won its first match of the season. The Huskies showed their dedication to the sport with intense practices every day after school. Sometimes the vigorous activity tired the players out. "I would almost want to miss practice to go home and sleep," stated Dave Thomas ('03). But all their hardwork paid off with a first class trip to state finals. "My favorite part of the season was when we went to the State Finals," commented Rich Merrit ('01). "Our team had a variety of ages but we all meshed together. We had a great year and a lot of fun," explained Brooke Banka.

The JV ladies also experienced a tough season. Despite their efforts in the tough MAC Red division, the girls were up against heavy competition. "Everyone was really nice, and worked really hard. We all got along well," said Nadia Elgoghail ('02). However, they had their ups and downs winning 10-0 one day and suffering an unfortunate loss 0-10 the next.

Wearry, tired, and beaten, the senior members of the Varsity football team left the field with hugs and words of wisdom for their younger teammates. Although they endured a rough year, the players never gave up hope and held onto their favorite memories. Many of them enjoyed the rival game against PH, but not just because they got to dress up in skirts and listen to cat calls from the crowd. "My favorite game was the PH game

Working together for the first time, the Freshmen moved to a higher level of competition while the JV tried, unsuccessfully, for a winning season. In cross town rivalry against Port Huron, JV player Andy Grant ('03) made a 60 yard run for a key touchdown. His efforts gave them a 22 to 14 win against PH.

"One advantage of JV is that it prepares you mentally and physically for

The battle ground is green. A pin marks victory in the distance. Your weapon: a club.

The men of Northern's Golf team swung as one and competed in tough matches like the MAC White Divisionals in which the best golfers from each division go head to head. Unfortunately, their trials wore them out and they went home unsatisfied from Regionals.

But the guys knew how to have a little fun. One ritual the team honored was pigging out at Mama Sanchez's Eatery after most away matches. The new members also endured tradition of refilling veteran player's pops at McDonald's on the way home.

"The season was good, we had only one or two losses and our team played well day in and day out, which is hard to do," commented Tyler Laws ('03) of the JV season.

On Varsity, the men were unable to repeat the trip to States they took last year.

"The season went pretty good considering we won the MAC. But I had really hoped the team or an individual would make it to States," said Nick Conard ('01). Better luck next year.

Pumped up for the game, the Varsity women charge out of the Dawg House. The 10-foot structure provided a bit of intimidation for the opposing teams. Hard hats on, the Varsity dads cheered on their girls at every game.

Who Let the Dogs Out?

There is an unspoken excitement in the air. The dad "Dog House Crew" piece together a ten foot tall structure and moves it to the door of the locker room. The crowd falls silent.

Suddenly, the Baha Men blares from the speakers and the Huskies break down the door, charging onto the floor. The girls circle, and start their warm ups.

The Women's Varsity Basketball team ended their exciting season against the women of Waterford Kettering in Holly. Their hardwork earned them the District Champions title and gave them a shot to strut their stuff in Regionals. Unfortunately, the dawgs slipped and lost by 33 points, but they never gave up the entire time.

"My goal this year was to be able to play my best and earn respect from all the Juniors and Seniors who I look up to!" Sam Schlaegel ('03). And that she did along with the rest of the Huskies who ousted Dakota and Chippewa Valley in Districts.

"Winning districts was particularly special this year because we had to work so hard, coming from behind. It was an incredibly feeling," remembered Co-Captain Lisa Vigrass ('01). The girls picked a great year to break out and play to their potential.

After fairly successful seasons, the Freshmen and JV Basketball teams got to take a break from their hardwork and constant effort. During that time, they also got to reflect on each of their seasons.

"Our team played well, we got stronger near the end of the season. Overall I think we had a great season with many memories!" Kris Warsinski ('03).

The JV team had a slight advantage after playing together for a season. "I thought that Freshmen year was a team building year. This year our team was built and we were able to concentrate on playing hard and together!" volunteered Megan Schieble ('03)

Getting a new look at basketball, the Freshmen team had a chance to say what they thought of their first season. Karen Lewis ('04) said of tryouts,

"Basketball tryouts were not too tough because there were only 13 people. Plus everyone was already in good shape from team camp."

It was also an opportunity to get used to high school.

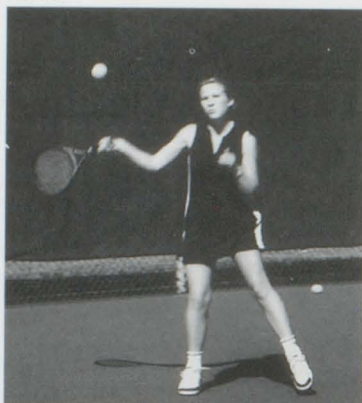

"I made a lot of new friends. The other 11 girls and I became really close during the months we played together," informed Allison Cole ('04)

Full of determination, Amy Murphy ('02) skillfully returns a serve. During this match against Grosse Point South, the JV team suffered an unfortunate loss 0-8.

Ecstatic, the Varsity Women's Tennis team celebrate their title as STATE CHAMPS for the second year in a row. All eight teams made it to the Semi-Finals, knocking out Troy and Traverse City. Three of Northern's women came home with a State crown.

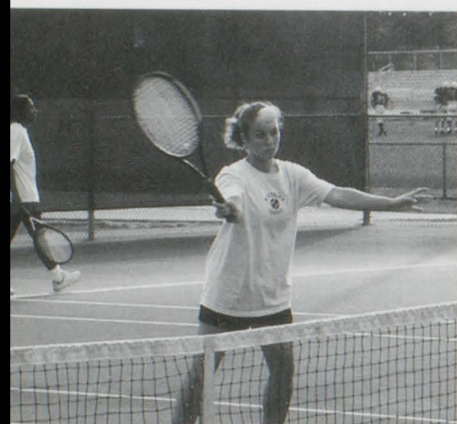

Ready to kill the ball, Elena Blackman ('01) winds up her backhand swing. Blackman and her partner Joanna Olmstead ('01) captured the #1 doubles State crown. Blackman finished the season with a career and school record of 141 wins and 9 losses.

4 out of 5: Not Too Shabby!

Hitting a ball with a racket, no problem right? Wrong. For the tennis team, it is more than that. Countless hours of practice, dedication, and sore feet made up the lady Huskies' s day.

The JV team perfected their skill every afternoon to have a shot at Varsity next year. Sometimes, they played till they were too tired to move. "It takes alot out of you, and sometimes you just want to give up. But that State title is what kept me practing," remembered Leeann Bernosky ('03).

Practice they did and the hard work paid off for the Varsity team. The Huskies again came home with the Division I STATE Championship for the 2000 season. In the two day tournament, the girls advanced every flight to the semi-final round, something rarely accomplished. Coach Baribeau believed, "They drew inspiration from each other."

In addition to winning States by 30 point, the girls won the MAC Red league in season play, the MAC RED tournament. Amy Szyndlar ('04) and Maelynn Bernosky ('01) were finalists while Jill Setter ('03), Elena Blackman ('01) and Joanna Olmstead ('01) came home champions. A course, a class, a performance. What do they describe? How about Cross Country and Equestrian. In both sports, the team has to follow a particular course during their meets. They also have to give a performance; a personal performance.

"Lots of people set their personal bests this season and some made it to the top 50 at Invitationals," remarked Heather Belling ('04)

"I thought our team was going to be bad because of all the new runners, but it turned out to be a successful year," said Chris Card ('03).

Likewise, the Equestrian Team had its successes of the season. As the smallest team in their division, they had a slight disadvantage. But they united to earn a Second place overall. "Being new, it was not hard to make new friends," said Heather Labadie of the team. The members also had their favorites of the season.

"Showmanship was my favorite class because it takes a lot of skill and concentration to remember the pattern and do it correctly," commented Kim Mason ('03).

Whether they were concentrating on the pattern, or on the pace they set for themselves, the Equestrian and Cross Country teams came together and ran Strong as a Horse.

The score is still 1-1. It is the second double overtime at the Varsity Men's Soccer districts in Dakota. A shoot-out ensures a win. With one minute left, Dakota scores. The Huskies leave the field for the second night in a row, only this time, disappointed. "Our season was better than last year, laughed Adam Hildebrant ('01). "We came together more as a team. We were more confident."

The men walked off the field let down, but with good memories of the year. Under the leadership of Coach Schnieder they improved their record of the previous year. "I thought we had a great season, this was my first year and I enjoyed playing for Coach Schneider," said Mike Vanconant ('01).

Likewise, the men of the Junior Varsity team had a bit of a rough year. They played under the direction of a new coach: Coach Becker. He helped the team improve their record by four wins this year as compared to last.

"We worked harder and tried to make fewer mistakes than there were last year. For the most part, I was pleased with the team's effort," remarked Becker.

Perhaps next year, the teams will have a bit more luck.

After scoring their first goal against Catholic Central, the Huskies celebrate in a group hug. The Huskies lost a tough match against their nationally ranked opponents 5-3.

Hopefully looking for an open team mate, Joe Axsom ('03) skates away from his rival. The Huskies played their games at McMorran Arena and Glacier Pointe.

He shoots... As the puck slides across the frigid ice, the Huskie hockey team hopes for it to go in. WOOOOO! HE SCORES! Yet another point for the team who scorched the opposing soldiers on skates. During one amazing season, the Huskies fared well for playing as a young team. They were unique this year; not a single senior returned to play, putting the Dawgs at a slight disadvantage. They went up against machines that were stacked with 10-15 seniors. "It was a different experience this year being a captain. Instead of following the older guys, I was the one they were following," Dan Ward ('02)

Near the end of the season, Northern was ranked number seven in Division one. But they came back with two big wins at the Kentwood Hockey Tournament. In overtime, they beat number five in Class A, host team Kentwood, 6-5. Chad Moore had the winning goal in over time and Steve Robbins stopped 27 shots, including 2 on 1 break. "It was a big weekend for us," stated Coach Daryl McCarrel proudly. In the finals, the Huskies skated past Division II, number three ranked Grosse Pointe South. Mark Evans had 23 saves. Of being a goalie for PHN Mark Evans ('03) remarked, "Hockey is different from any other sport because I am the goalie. That is so different from football and baseball."

Making history the Huskies made it to States where they downed West Bloomfield and Negaunee. They played number two in the nation, Catholic Central in the finals. Big Bad Blue

Cheer

Cheerleaders had a lot to say about what they do. Michelle McPhedrain ('01) said the best thing about competitive cheer was, "The rush of having the crowd focus on you and doing the absolute best you can all achieve." And the worst thing about cheer? Ann Marie Hall ('02) remembered, "I love cheerleading, but staying in shape and doing flips was hard work. I do not like going on vacation and come back having to start working out again."

Speaking of staying in shape, not all the girls abide by the rules. Cassie McLaughlin ('01) said "Our coaches tell us not to drink pop, but I really don't drink much anyway. I eat mostly junk food and I am not a fan of healthy stuff."

The Competitive Cheer team was not the only one to work hard and eat right. All levels of Cheer did a routine of exercises everyday in practice. Some even went to Kaleidoscope Gymnastics to get some extra help with flips, splits, and other tumbling moves. "I went to the classes every Monday from 7-8:00PM. They basically help me do back hand springs and a series of flips in a row," commented Katie Jarvis ('04).

Overall, the girls were proud of their accomplishments in school spirit. "What inspired me to become a cheerleader was watching them do flips and dances, which were awesome," stated Krystal Klaas ('04). "I enjoy being in this sport with my friends." And the fans enjoy their friends as cheerleaders.

At a vertical advantage, Adam "Rockie" Vernoke ('01), soars up for the ball. In the first quarter of play the Huskies trailed PH by a close margin of only two to three points. They came out on top beating their foes by eleven.

Afake to the left and then to the right, lets on Hastings ('01) throw off his cross town rival. The Huskies played tough against PH, trailing at first, but then coming back for a 71-60 win.

Basketball... some consider it the game of brotherly love. Well, in this case it was meant literally. Sharing the court for the first and last season, the Whymer brothers felt a particularly strong connection to their teammates.

"It's really cool, especially because he is two grades below me. I never thought we would get the chance to play with each other, but I am glad we did," stated Kyle Whymer ('01) of playing with his sibling. Many times he would watch over his little bro during the season. Joel Whymer remembered, "It was fun and my brother had been really nice and supportive." This strong bond helped bring them, along with the rest of the team together. Never before had the Varsity Huskies had such a strong union. They played completely as one.

"We were more of a team this year than I had ever been before in any other sport. We all got along and liked to hang out and play together. The fans were also AWESOME this year," remarked Nate Hawley.

And their playing proved it. Half way through their season, the Varsity Dawgs had won lost only one, very close game to L'Anse Creuse. The margin was three points. But in a rematch, the boys widen that gap to eighteen... in their favor. Ranked number one in the MAC Red, the Varsity team had hopes of going all the way.

"The team unity and spending so much time together was the best part of the basketball season," said Jon Hastings ('01) It taught me to deal with people from all backgrounds."

He's got Game

Basketball

Basketball is played all around the world, but here, the Junior Varsity and Freshmen boys basketball teams seemed to top them all. Why? Well these teams tried their hardest, never gave up, and most of all...worked together.

After the players made the team, they had to practice hard every single day of the week, they worked hard each day. Practice did not only mean working hard, but it meant having fun, so long as Coach Nesbitt and Coach Boeskool were there.

With extensive practices and winning games, Nes was well respected by all of the team members. "I enjoy JV Basketball because the coach made every second fun for us, instead of working just to get better," remembered team member Matt Gossman ('03) when he was asked about his favorite part of basketball.

Games were won thanks to the dedication of the entire team. Whether it was loosing to a teammate at practice or loosing a big game, everyone gave 100%. "The most difficult thing about basketball was living up to our name and winning every single game. Playing basketball is not easy," said Dave Thomas ('03).

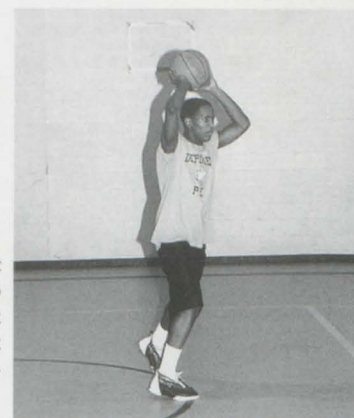

But the players will tell you they love the game. "There is not anything I dislike about basketball," commented Trevell Brown ('04). "I love the game so much." As they worked together, the Freshmen players had high hopes of moving to a higher level next year.

Dispersed around the court, the Freshmen pups set up for two bonus free-throws. Against Davis, the Dawgs lost a tough match 51-63.

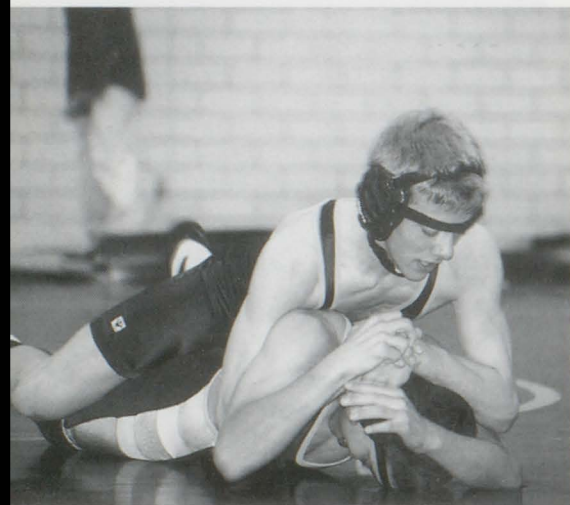

On the line, Davis sets up for one more bonus point. "The ups were that you can play as a team and have a good team. The downs were having to practice so much," said Steven Gerstenberger ('04) of the Freshmen team.

With all his force, Captain Mike Mikalakis ('01) tries to break down his opponent in order to get the pin. "Wrestling gives you the mind set to overcome obstacles in the future. No matter what they are, your mind set and attitude achieved from wrestling is a great gift." Mikalakis qualified for Individual States and placed fifth.

Wrestling

Aggressively holding his opponent in a head lock, Ryan Kacafirek ('02) works for a pin. With the team and fans cheering him on, Kacafirek won the match at the Blue Water Invitational, earning third place in the 171 weight class.

With an obvious advantage, Captain Kevin Balinski ('01) attempts to earn a point with a pin. "This year making weight has not been a problem. I just eat like a normal athlete in high school and worry about making weight on the day of weigh-in. But I am one of the lucky ones who can do that."

No ropes, turnbuckles, or managers. No Hulk Hogan or the Rock, and people actually getting hurt: that is high school wrestling.

Competitive matches encouraged "Mat Dawgs" in their rebuilding process. "We were a young team, but we had a lot of talent. The younger guys gained confidence wrestling varsity matches", stated five year head coach, Mike Hamann. The Northern varsity team had about ten wrestlers with no "varsity" experience. It forced the Huskies to turn to their captains and key letterwinners to lead the team. "I think that our captains were role models, they showed a lot of leadership throughout the season", said Justin Brown ('03). Some of the third and fourth string wrestlers, consisting of mainly freshman, were brought up to replace the other five members down because of injury or illness.

To start the season off, the Huskies placed 14th out of 38 teams, collecting 88 points at the Macomb County Tournament. Mike Mikalakakis ('01) earned first place, becoming two time Macomb County Champ. Kevin Balinski ('01) received second place and Paul Ososki ('02) brought in seventh.

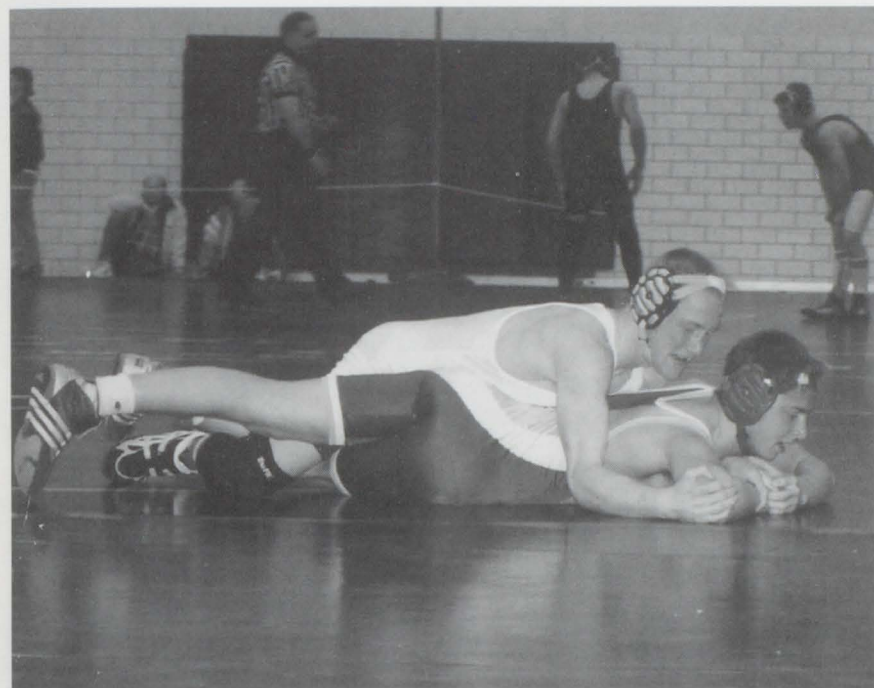

Both senior captains, Mikalakakis and Balinski, achieved their 100th career win this wrestling season. It is not very often, a team has two wrestlers receiving such a great accomplishment. The last wrestler to win over 100, was James Nelson back in 1998.

"A typical practice for wrestling consisted of tons of running, basic drills, and going through directions on how to prevent and attack your moves", stated Beth Jezierski ('03). The "Mat Dawgs" own team shirts that say, "The only easy day was yesterday". Not a single Port Huron Northern wrestler would disagree with that.

Set For The Kill

Volleyball

The Varsity Volleyball team had 13 amazing players. With great coaches like Mr. Davey and Mr. Adolph, the five seniors, seven juniors, and single sophomore had great direction for their talented team. They also had some help from Nick Piechotte ('01) the manager for the Huskies.

The team got together after school for tough practices consisting of exhausting drills that only made them stronger. Their hardest practice was when they had to do stations. These were a set of specified exercises that isolated muscles the girls did for a set amount of time. They also ran and performed other drills such as serving, server/receiver, worked on their offense and defense, flow drills, hitting, and scrimmaged one another near the end.

These grueling practices got them ready for grueling games against tough teams like Marysville, Dakota, Fraser and Chippewa Valley. "I was expecting a good season. There was a lot of talent on our team and we put it all together," explained Megan Murphy ('02).

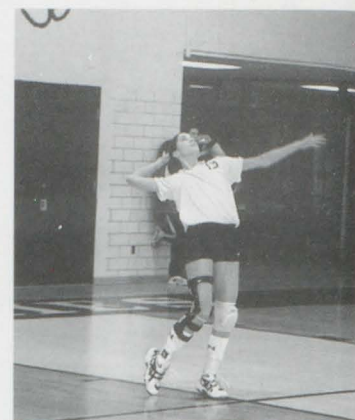

The girls played with intensity during the games and went out to win every time, all the time. "Going to practice, working hard, and having it all pay off after winning a game was a great feeling," described Kaitlin McNamee. The sweat they poured out in practice gave them victories over Dakota and Grosse Point North.

Many girls have been playing Volleyball for a long time. Most played in other travel leagues during the off season. "I have been playing since 6th grade," said Sara Jo Friend, "And I play because I love it." For all their hard work, the girls must have loved the game because they were ready to kill.

Nimble fingers let Sarah Partipilo ('01) set up a kill. The Varsity Huskies lost a tough match against the Fraser Ramblers.

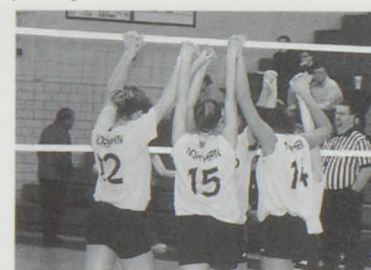

Down for the dive, Megan Vincent ('03) saves the ball from another point against the Huskies. Vincent made several key passes during the match.

Before the third game against PH, the Lady Huskies have a quick pep talk about working together. The girls found the need to stay confident during a rough game to come back for the win.

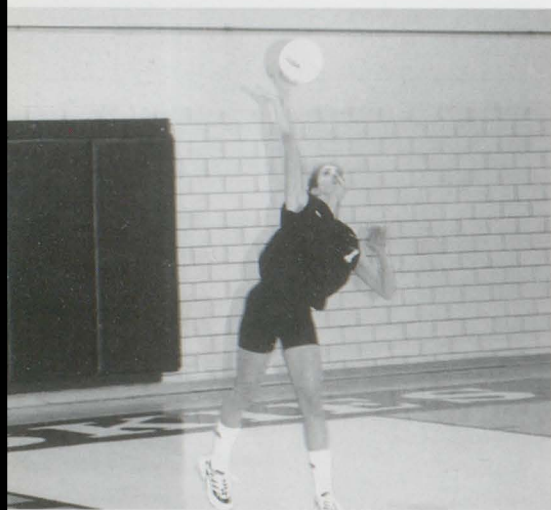

The back row, made up of Megan Vincent ('03), Krista Daniels ('02), and Jackie Kinney ('01) stand ready to return. The Fraser Ramblers defeated the Huskies by five points in the first game.

Strong hands from Cindy Parent ('03) and Brittney Wilton ('03) block Fraser's front hitters from scoring any more against Northern. In this second game, the JV Huskies beat Fraser, finishing off the match 2-0.

Brutally serving the ball, Megan Scheible uses her strength to earn one more of the team. The JV Huskies beat Fraser in two games.

Pumped up with a pass, Lindsay O'Dell ('03) bumps the ball to her setter. Hardwork paid off with 15-13 and 15-8 wins against the Fraser Ramblers.

Back row digger Karen Lewis ('04), passes up a ball to the front line. "Volleyball season was but it was a lot more work than I expected," she said.

A strong set from Maurica Wells ('04), gives Beth Ann Soliday a nice angle for a spike. Soliday had a mean vertical that made her one of the key hitters for the Huskie pups.

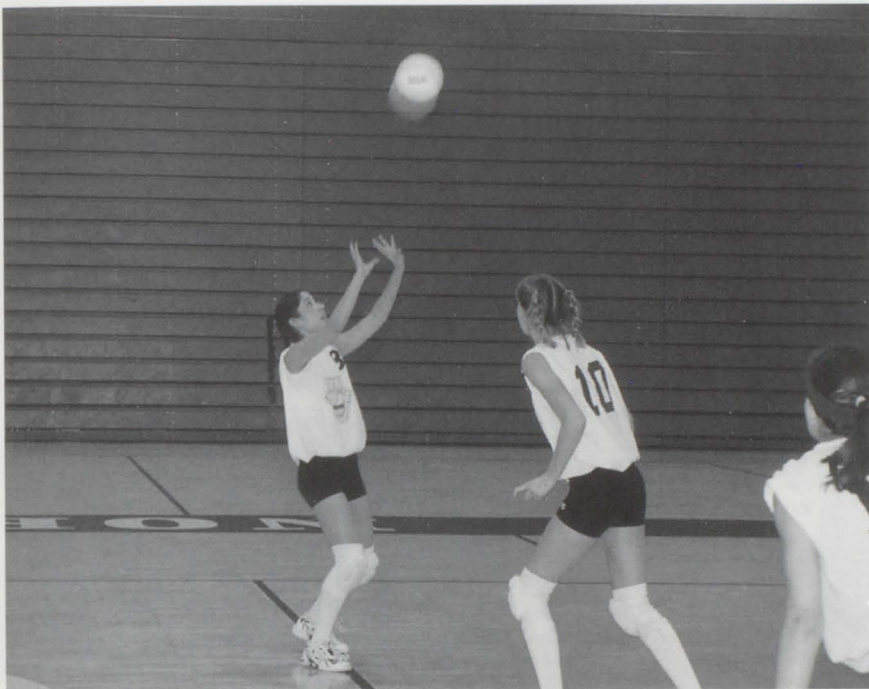

With perfect form, key setter Maurica Wells ('04) sets the ball for a perfect spike. The Freshmen pups beat Marysville in two games, dominating both.

The Freshmen and JV Volleyball teams had exciting seasons as they traveled through the MAC Red. The Freshmen team came together under Coach Keith and Jennifer Delong for their first taste of competitive play. "It was a lot better playing in High School because we played with more competitive teams and we got to go to tournaments which were the best!" said Maurica Wells ('04). The pups downed such opponents as Marysville, PHHS, and Chippewa Valley, which gave them something to brag about.

Likewise, the JV team under Coach Derek Arena had something to talk about. "My most memorable time on JV volleyball this year was when we beat Marysville at the Davison Tournament and won first place," Lindsay Doss ('03). Ousting the Class B State Champions was a major vote of confidence for the team.

But they played not only for the competition and wins. "I tried out for JV Volleyball because a lot of my good friends that I knew from the freshmen team were going to be on it and I knew it would be fun." Brittney Wilton ('03). They also had their moments of hardwork. Practice everyday after school was difficult and sometimes exhausting. But overall the teams consisted of three elements: fun, friends, and fifteen points; all something the Volleyball Huskies enjoyed.

Freshmen hitter Katie Miller ('04) scores a block on her Marysville opponent. Northern's only win against the Vikings came with the Freshmen team.

Quickly passing the ball to her spiker, Lindsay Doss ('03) calls heads up for her teammates. In this second game against Fraser, the Huskies beat Fraser by seven points.

From the players...

ADRIENNE NICKLES ('02)

"Softball last year was a blast. We came together as a team at the end and it was a very memorable season."

DARCI MCKERNAN ('02)

"JV softball season was a lot of fun. I had a blast with my teammates and we had a good season."

CARI HILLOCK ('03)

"My most embarrassing moment when I was rounding third base on a home run and I slid on the ground only to get tagged out."

2nd in Division Overall

MATT NEWMANN ('01)

"During golf we had to work hard and give it our best shot. Goals of the season included making it to states and win the league."

HEATHER LABADIE ('03)

"How it was my first year on and everyone welcomed me with open arms and was willing to help me out whenever I needed it or didn't need it. Everyone was really nice, I even made some new friends."

From the players...

KELLY CORNWELL ('02)

"I think we could have worked harder at winning but we ended up pretty good. Although, it did not help to lose two players and so many girls got hurt."

BRITTNEY WILTON ('03)

"This season was great. We came a long way since our freshmen year. We have currently only lost one game to Marysville, but we quickly got our revenge."

ASHLEY PICKERING ('03)

"The only disadvantage to playing volleyball is that it was harder to keep up with homework, but otherwise it was a big privilege to be on the team."

"The best part about wrestling was the conditioning and becoming a well disciplined person."

MARK EVANS ('03)

"Supersitions: I always give my mom a hug before I go into the arena. I also put my right leg pad on first all the time. When I am in the locker room I grab my Michigan charm, close my eyes, and think about how I am going to play."

ERIC OLMSTEAD ('03)

"I enjoy playing hockey because it is very fun. I like scoring. I also like going to practice everyday because it gave me something to do after school."

BILL SAEED ('02)

"This basketball season was special because along with our successful season, everyone had fun."

Aaron Sigafoose ('04)

"I think high school basketball was a lot better because I learned more stuff and more people watch the game. Practice worked on more plays, better drills, and work on your game."

The Simple Truth!

The Colonel has seen a wrong and the time has come to make it right. With courage and determination, he dares to speak the truth:

"Chicken sandwiches should be made by chicken experts."

It just makes sense. It's irrefutable.
If you want a burger, fine. Go see the burger experts.
But, if you want the world's best chicken sandwiches, come to the chicken experts! Come to KFC!

Mooove over Burger Boys! Here comes the Colonel!

KFC supports the Huskies all the way

Good luck to the class of 2000

Colophon

The 2001 Spirit, "Fascination" represents a collaborative effort by the students to summarize and highlight the varied opportunities that were available to the staff and students and our local community in this the first year of a new millennium. Editors-in-chief Audrey Whaling and Korey Campbell, along with section editors Jessica Castello, Jackie Barrett, Chris D'Hulster, David Kelley, Elizabeth Soulliere, and Cassandra Vasquez, led this intensive effort assisted by 35 student staff members. The yearbook advisor this year was Mr. Dennis Dwyer. The results of this project is this 266-page book completed using PageMaker 6.5 and planned, produced, and marketed by the student staff and editors.

The Herff-Jones printing company in Shawnee Mission, Kansas printed 1,150 copies of Spirit 2001, which were sold for $40, $42, or $45, depending on when the order was placed by the purchaser. Forty-eight pages were printed in four-color process.

The cover is custom embossed applied on brushed grain Permacote 120 pt. Board. Endsheets are Colortext recycled stock selection printed in black. Paper stock throughout the book is 80# Bordeaux.

Headline and caption treatments vary by section; body copy is in Baker Signet font.

Port Huron Northern is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association (CSPA) and the Michigan Interscholastic Press Association (MIPA). Four associations have critiqued Spirit over the past twelve years resulting in nine Spartan awards from MIPA and several First place and Gold and Bronze medalist awards from CSPA.

The goal of the Spirit staff was to produce a quality journalistic yearbook that would be treasured by staff, students, and their families for many years to come. This collection of school news, history, and entertaining recollections was produced with revenue developed through book and ad sales, along with resources made available by the Port Huron Area School District.

Acknowledgements

The Spirit staff wishes to thank the staff and students of Port Huron Northern High School for their continued support and assistance in the creation of this yearbook. Special thanks go to Mrs. JoAnn Monaghan, principal, and assistant principals Mr. Craig Dahlke, Mrs. Cheryl Wojtas, Mr. Thomas Rodenbaugh, and curriculum director Mrs. Marion Hall for their constant encouragement and enthusiasm. Invaluable staff members for their yearbook staff is the office and secretarial staff, in particular; Mrs. Myra Brennan for the financial and bookkeeping expertise; Mrs. Monica Grady for her help with sports scores, pictures, and many other details involving the sports program at PHN.

Any yearbook would not be nearly the quality project that it is without the support and expertise of many professional colleagues such as: Mr. Tom Saputo and the staff of Innovations Photography for their professionalism and flexibility; Mr. Tony Noto for his invaluable assistance as the Herff-Jones sales representative who continually provides technical advice and creative design ideas; the entire staff at the Herff-Jones plant who work very hard to produce an excellent yearbook for us; and Dennis MacDonald for the team photographs that are an essential part of any yearbook.

Many special people also used some of their valuable time to assist the creation of this yearbook, in particular, by providing some much need photography support. Mrs. Maureen Blackman, Mrs. Marilyn Mikalakis, Mrs. Balinski, and Mrs. Drews donated some memorable pictures. Volunteer student photographers Tim Troy, Joel Weston, and Kasey McCabe were very important contributors to this year's Spirit. Also, a special thanks to Mr. James Whaling for the use of his camera.

Why O Why...

- Why don't you ever see the headline "Psychic Wins Lottery"?
- Why is a boxing ring square?
- Why is it considered necessary to nail down the lid of a coffin?
- Why is it that doctors call what they do "practice"?
- Why is it that rain drops but snow falls?
- Why is it that when you're driving and looking for an address, you turn down the volume on the radio?
- Why is the man who invests all your money called a broker?
- Why is the third hand on the watch called a second hand?
- Why is the time of day with the slowest traffic called rush hour?
- You know that little indestructible black box that is used on planes, why can't they make the whole plane out of the same substance?
- Can fat people go skinny-dipping?

Dear Huskies,

Greetings from the back of room 308. Well, it has been a good but challenging year. Starting off in the fall, we had a record high interest in Yearbook, which resulted in not one, but TWO classes chock full of people. Although we had a ton of help, sometimes it was hard to keep everyone busy. Along with a new class set up, we had an AWESOME new Yearbook advisor. Mr. Dennis Dwyer, thank you so much for all your hard work and dedication. We really could not have done it without you.

Aside from the people aspect behind FASCINATION, the new technology we had improved our publication. However, we did have our troubles. Who would have thought that brand new IBMs would have any errors? Desperately trying to make deadlines, messages about the Norton AntiVirus Scan kept popping up. Not to mention the random disappearance of picture boxes and spreads. New Computers = New Problems.

But working those late nights we enjoyed the company of our section editors. Ladies, do not be fooled, David Kelly is QUITE a talkative person. Scrounging for pictures and last minute captions, Chris D'Hulster said it best when he stated, "Stuff in this office just goes poof!"

Wait...we needed pictures for this spread? Why is it that we decide we need pictures for something AFTER the event is over? That is something we will have to work on. Oh yeah, and a special thanks to NHS. The leftovers from all those ceremonies definitely satisfied our cravings in the late hours.

Sometimes though, those late hours were not so late. Due to an "incident" earlier in the year, the yearbook staff had to evacuate the building. But sometimes we could not even get out. A mishap occurred where we were actually locked IN the building. Something else we will have to work on.

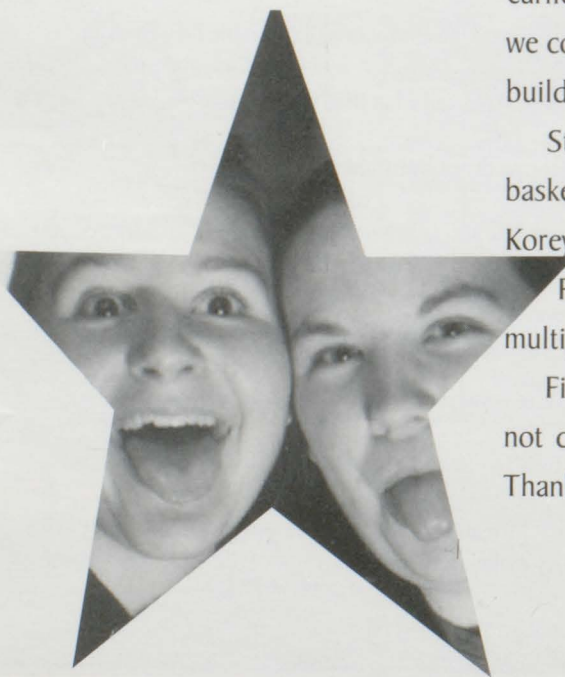

Striving for those perfect shots, we editors had our brushes with death. A wild basketball jumped out of a player's grasp and attacked Audrey on the sidelines. Korey encountered a similar fate with a kamikaze football on the field.

For anyone who is wondering the Top Dawg bones are STILL here. They are multiplying like rabbits! Please save us from the growing madness.

Finally, a special thanks to all the people who answered our begging. If we had not crawled on hands and knees, some of the book would still not be finished. Thanks for a great year! Seniors Rule!

Sincerely,

Korey Campbell
Audrey McWhorter

A special thanks to our hardworking editors. You all did an excellent job and the book never would have been finished without you.

Also a special thanks to our dedicated yearbook staffers. These two classes did an exceptional job and learned a lot in the process.

...Closing

...what a fascinating experience. The 2000-2001 school year was filled with studying, sleeping, and snow days. The coldest and snowiest winter Michigan had ever seen buried Northern in fifty inches of snow. But the staff and students battled back; fighting for the right to learn.

The Class of 2001 graduated as, in their eyes, the first class of the new Millenium. The other classes followed in their footsteps toward the technologies and opportunities of the 21st century.

The New Year brought new problems that the students of Northern will face in the the coming years. From Global Warming to random outbreaks of once thought extinct viruses, inside the school's walls were the doctors and environmentalists of the future who will make the world a better place.

The road of opportunity is never-ending. What does not kill us will make us stronger. Use everything you have and live life to the fullest.

with your old nonsense. This day is all that is good and life is too dear with its hopes and invitations, to waste a moment on yesterday.
-Ralph Waldo Emerson

"One of the illusions of life is that the present hour is not the critical, decisive hour. Write it on your heart that every day is the best day of the year. He only is rich who owns the day, and no one owns the day who allows it to be invaded with worry, fret and anxiety. Finish every day and be done with it. You have done what you could. Some blunders and absurdities no doubt have crept in; forget them as soon as you can. Tomorrow is a new day; begin it well and serenely and with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense. This day is all that is good and fair. It is too dear, with its hopes and invitations, to waste a moment on yesterdays."

-Ralph Waldo Emerson
